RUSSIAN ARMY 20 MILES FROM OLD POLISH BORDER

FLAMES SWEEP TO COAST—Flames swept down Santa Monica mountains to the coastal highway several miles north of Santa Monica, Cal., Sunday, in their uncontrolled sway through 30,000 acres and 150 homes. The fire blazed in two new sections yesterday, imperiling 300 added homes and a county prison camp. Story on Page 8.

15,000 Nazis Slain; 60 More Sites Fall On Kiev Battlefield

By JUDSON O'QUINN.

LONDON, Nov. 8.—(AP)—The Red Army swept up 60 more villages today in a steady hammering-back of 180,000 German troops routed from the Kiev area, striking to within 115 miles of the old Polish border, a Moscow communique announced tonight.

A Moscow broadcast beamed to the Baltic States said that spearheads of another Red army fighting west and southwest of Nevel on the north-central front had reached the outskirts of Polotsk, only 20 miles from the old Polish border.

Polotsk is a junction of the Vitebsk-Riga railway where it meets the line running north to Leningrad. It is 60 miles northwest of Vitebsk, which is being outflanked by the Russians.

A special broadcast bulletin recorded by the Soviet monitor said the Germans left 15,000 dead and 6,200 prisoners on the Kiev battlefields after the four-day fight preceding the Ukraine capital's capture last Saturday.

Makarov Captured.

Makarov, 28 miles due west of Kiev, and only 50 miles from Zhitomir, a junction on one of the last two north-south railways available to the Germans short of the Polish border, was taken by the hard-hitting forces of General Nikolai F. Vatutin, the daily communique said.

Southwest of Fastov the Russians were reported to have gained 10 miles to put them within 140 miles of the Rumanian frontier in their powerful effort to create a huge trap around the hundreds of thousands of Germans fighting in that area between the Dnieper river and the Black Sea.

In the eastern Caucasus, the Russians still were fighting to improve bridgeheads near Kerch, and the German high command acknowledged "local success" by Soviet units fighting on the Perekop isthmus at the northwestern corner of the big sealed-off peninsula.

The Russians were cleaning out the 30-mile area between Fastov and Makarov, overrunning scores of hamlets as they fanned out in all directions from their breakthrough at Kiev.

Indirectly acknowledging the gravity of the German position, the daily Berlin communique said the Nazi army was fighting bitter defensive battles against "superior forces."

Nazi Divisions Routed.

The special Russian announcement giving details of the battle for Kiev said 12 German divisions, two of them tank divisions and one motorized, were routed.

In addition to the 21,200 troops lost by the Germans, Moscow gave this toll of enemy equipment:

Destroyed—244 German tanks, 126 aircraft, 174 field guns, including 48 self-propelled guns, 158 mortars, 246 machineguns and 28 stores of various kinds.

Captured—Thirty German aircraft, 42 tanks, 314 field guns, including 70 mobile guns; 140 mortars; 640 machineguns; 650 trucks; 700 carts; over 2,000 horses; 34 munition dumps, and 18 radio transmitters.

Kiev, however, once the most beautiful city in Russia, is now a scene of devastation, the newspaper Pravda said.

While the Red army refrained from firing a single shell or dropping a single bomb on the city in the hope of sparing it, Pravda said the Germans systematically destroyed it, beginning their demolition with the wrecking of Kreschatiki—the city's boulevard regarded as a symbol of modernity.

Nazi Defeatists Face Execution, Hitler Warns

By JAMES F. KING.

LONDON, Nov. 8.—(AP)—Adolf Hitler vowed today that Nazis would fight fanatically to the end, and, admitting some persons in Germany wanted an Allied victory, warned he would resort to mass executions to prevent a home front collapse.

Flanked by Nazi party bigwigs in a Munich beer cellar, Hitler, in a belligerent, somewhat boastful speech broadcast by the Berlin radio and recorded by the Associated Press, demanded loyalty above all.

He aimed sharp threats in many directions, but marked the sharpest toward his own home front.

"I know that I demand the apparent impossible from the battle-front," he asserted, "but this almost impossible must force a decision in our favor."

Keeps His "Nerve."

In the speech, which took just short of an hour to broadcast and marked the anniversary of Hitler's abortive beer hall putsch of 1923, the Nazi dictator apparently took a stab at whipping up new national courage, when he declared:

"Everything is possible, but that I should lose my nerve is impossible."

The Berlin radio said Hitler was between Reichsmarshal Goering and Gestapo Chief Himmler as he spoke, and described the scene as one resembling the old-time National Socialist party rallies, complete with flags and martial music.

Hitler challenged the Allies to open a "second front" in Europe, and declared that "if they try . . . it will be seen whether the reserves we have been keeping in many fields are a sign of weakness or prudence."

The Nazi chief acknowledged reverses in Russia and, referring to Allied bombings of Germany, said "the sufferings of the German people through this bombing are enormous."

Defensive Note.

He reiterated, however, that "however long this war lasts, we shall never capitulate. We shall not give in at the eleventh hour. We shall go on fighting past 12 o'clock."

"I can support and lead the German people," he said. "I can say that whatever may happen at the end, victory is certain.

"If Germany breaks under the strain, I would not be sorry for it. It would not deserve any better fate. But this will never happen.

Colder, Frosty Weather Forecast for City Today

Fair and colder weather, with scattered frosts in the early morning is forecast for the Atlanta area today by local weather bureau.

Yesterday's high reading was 55 degrees, while the low was 44 degrees.

BACK BEHIND BARS—Bill Byrd, in stripes, long term convict serving a sentence from Fulton county, and Kenneth Brazell, who joined nine other convicts in an abortive break from the Coffee county prison camp near Douglas, Ga., Sunday, are back in custody and held at Tattnall prison, near Reidsville.

Moore Closes Camp; Injured Guard Dies

By LAMAR Q. BALL.

The Georgia State Highway camp at Douglas, scene of the state's most recent outbreak of prisoners, is being closed officially this morning by Commissioner of Corrections Wiley Moore.

A guard, Clarence Cox, wounded in the escape, died yesterday. Meanwhile, seven of the 11 escapes were still at large and an extensive manhunt was in progress for those at liberty.

As he left Atlanta yesterday to attend a national conference in Chicago, Commissioner Moore said:

"I am abolishing Tuesday the highway camp at Douglas and transferring all of the remaining prisoners at this camp to Reidsville."

These state highway camps were being held open until January 1 so road construction work in those areas could be completed.

The road construction work in Douglas is not completed. Late yesterday Ryburn G. Clay, director of the state highway department, said:

"We are shutting down this camp. I agree with Mr. Moore that the camp should be shut down, but—

"There are streets in Douglas still closed up. We were working on those streets with this highway camp labor. We shall have to finish the work with 'free labor.' We find 'free labor' hard to get. These streets our convicts of the highway camp have been working on are in the heart of Douglas—they are part of the state highway system."

Governor Arnall said:

"No matter how many escapes we have, they will not deter us from our efforts to clean up the Georgia prison system.

"There are 103 camps in Geor-

63 Jap Planes Shot Down in New Air Fights

By WILLIAM F. BONI.

SOUTHWEST PACIFIC ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Tuesday, Nov. 9.—(AP)—Sixty-three Japanese planes have been destroyed in new air battles over the south Pacific sector.

Twenty-three planes were shot out of the air and 12 destroyed on the ground in another of a growing series of smashes on Rabaul, New Britain, headquarters said today.

Japanese planes also were active on a widespread scale. They struck at Empress Augusta bay, where U. S. Marines hold a bridgehead on the west coast of Bougainville.

Treasury Isle Raided.

They struck south of Bougainville at Allied-won Treasury island. They also attacked two positions on New Guinea and another on New Georgia.

In the continuing Allied air strike at concentrations of enemy warships and freighters sent into the battle for the Solomons, a heavy cruiser and two destroyers were attacked off Bougainville. Hits or near misses were believed to have been scored at low altitude by the night-flying torpedo planes on two destroyers.

Despite the heavy enemy air raid at Empress Augusta bay, the Marines continued to consolidate their positions there. Off the northern coast of Bougainville near Buka, Mitchell medium bombers of Admiral William F. Halsey's South Pacific force sank an enemy corvette and five small cargo boats.

Truk Blasted.

Rabaul, where an inrush last week of warships from Truk was the signal for attacks by the air forces of both General MacArthur and Admiral Halsey, was blasted in the latest raid Sunday with 84 tons of bombs by fighter-escorted Liberators. They concentrated their daylight attack on Rapopo airdrome.

Nine bombers and three fighters were destroyed on the ground. In addition to the 23 downed, eight others probably were destroyed out of the 50 fighters which intercepted. Five of the escorting P-38s are missing.

Large fires sprang up where airplanes are dispersed and barracks were damaged.

There still were no reports of any naval action in the Solomons sector such as have been made, with extensive claims of sinkings, by the Japanese.

Gun Installations Hit.

Admiral Halsey's air units kept right on pounding into uselessness the enemy airfields on invaded Bougainville. Meeting no enemy air interception, Avenger torpedo bombers, Dauntless dive bombers and Mittchell medium bombers tore at gun positions—the only working defenses for those airfields—and installations at the Kara strip on the southern coast of Bougainville with 72 tons of bombs.

Screen 'Print' Is Not Count's, Expert Claims

NASSAU, Bahamas, Nov. 8.—(AP)—Alfred de Marigny's chief alibi witness ran afoul a prosecutor armed with a surprise document today and found himself in red-faced confusion before he finished his story of his close friend's activities on the night Sir Harry Oakes was slain last July.

Moving swiftly toward the end of de Marigny's trial for the murder of his father-in-law, the defense then matched the word of one American police captain against another in an effort to discredit the fingerprint offered by the crown as evidence that the defendant was present when the aged gold miner was beaten on the head and set afire.

The defense expects to rest its case tomorrow, with 19-year-old Nancy Oakes de Marigny, eldest daughter of Sir Harry and de Marigny's wife, as the final witness.

The Marquis Georges de Visdelou, who has known de Marigny since they were boys together on the Indian ocean island of Mauritius, was called upon to substantiate the accused man's story that he was home in bed at the time Sir Harry was attacked in his seaside estate, Westbourne, five miles away.

Previous witnesses have set the

U. S. Bombers Assault Turin Bearing Factory

'Anniversary' Attack Wreaks Heavy Damage

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Algiers, Nov. 8.—(AP)—Flying Fortresses of the newly formed U. S. 15th Airforce bombed the ball-bearing works of the giant Fiat motor factory at Turin today, on the first anniversary of Allied landings in North Africa.

It was the first American attack on Turin, which previously had been bombed by RAF night squadrons which flew across the Alps, and was a vital blow at the Nazi industrial machine, following up obliteration of Germany's main ball-bearing producing plant at Schweinfurt by Britain-based Flying Fortresses October 14.

(The Bern radio tonight quoted an official Rome announcement as admitting "heavy material damage" was caused by the Turin raid, the CBS short-wave listening post reported. The Rome announcement further said "the number of casualties is considerable," the Swiss radio broadcast reported.)

Important Gains.

The fact that North Italy's industrial targets now are well within range of bombers from this theater stresses the importance of the Allies' gains since the North Africa landings.

Officials of the 15th air force presumably were awaiting evidence from aerial photographs before disclosing results of the bombing.

The official announcement said the raid indicated the big role "which will be played by air forces in this theater of operations against critical industries which support the German war effort."

Turin is only 540 miles from the North African coast and within easy range of the Fortresses and Liberators already assigned to the 15th air force for use this winter in attacks on enemy industries and communications.

It is a far shorter distance than a number of targets already plastered by bombers from North Africa, notably Wiener Neustadt, site of a Messerschmitt airplane parts plant in Austria, and Bolzano, Trento and other communications centers near the extreme northern border of Italy.

On the anniversary of the initial landings of United States troops on North African shores, General George C. Marshall, chief of staff, today messaged the congratulations of the War Department to General Eisenhower and his officers and men.

School Merger Plan Arouses Enthusiasm

By WELLINGTON WRIGHT.

Civic leaders, educators, business and professional men—as well as many of the plain people on the street—have joined in support of a proposal looking toward the merger of the city and county school systems into one great and unified educational system.

Such a proposal, as advocated in the leading editorial in The Constitution Sunday, brought enthusiastic response from many different groups of citizens. No one could be found who opposed the suggestions made in the editorial, entitled "One School System."

"The Constitution believes this to be the right time," said the editorial, "for the people of Atlanta and Fulton county to explore the many positive benefits to be derived from unifying the school systems of the county and city. A plan can be made.

"Not a plan for the county to 'take over' the city schools!

"Not a plan for the city to 'take over' the county schools!

"But, rather, a plan which would provide for one board to administer the school system for residents of the city and county. Almost any sort of compromise could be reached to initiate the plan and get it going. Details for providing a more efficient and economical single school system could follow."

Citizens who expressed their opinion on this subject were unanimous in voicing approval of the sentiments of the editorial. Some wished to study the proposal further before committing themselves on the subject of unification; but all were of the opinion that the matter should receive careful and comprehensive study to determine its relative merits.

Great Economies.

Every citizen interviewed agreed that the proposed merger offered the possibility of great economies as well as more efficient administration. And in addition all agreed the principal beneficiaries of the unification would be the school children of both city and county.

The public agrees with The Constitution that, in the interests of the school system, now is the time to begin to plan for ultimate unification. The diversified list of those interviewed on this subject is an indication of the widespread interest in the proposed movement.

Walter H. Rich, president of Rich's, Inc., is strongly in favor of the proposed consolidation of county and city schools for both "educational and economic efficiency," he told The Constitution.

Ground Work Necessary.

However, Rich added, thorough ground work must be done before steps are taken, to avoid possible friction between the city and county after the merger is effected.

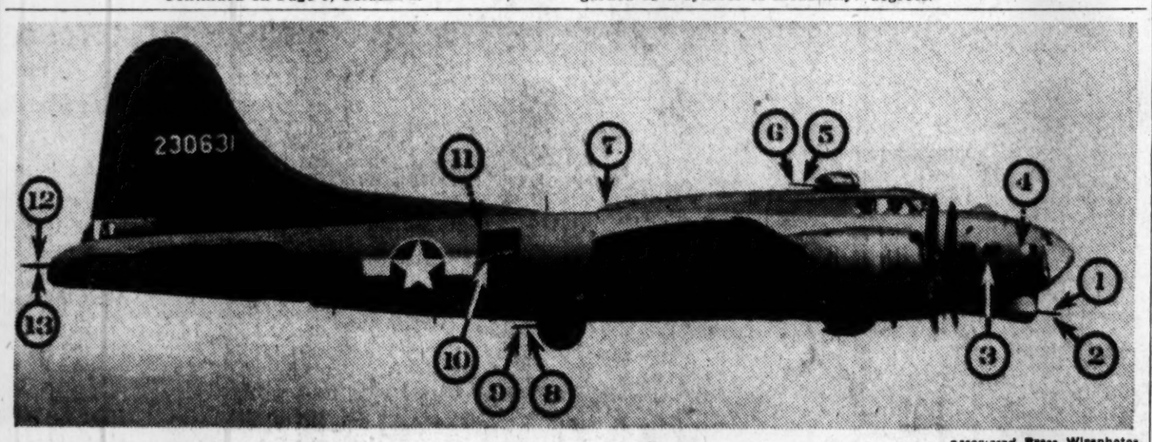

Rich, a former member of the state and city boards of education, made a survey of city schools under the administration of the late Mayor James L. Key and is familiar with education in both the city and state. At one time when the city was unable to pay teachers because of financial difficulties his firm advanced the money for their salaries.

Speaking as a man whose field of work has been largely organizational, Rich said it was obvious a single, cohesive system would achieve greater efficiency than two overlapping systems.

"Both school systems have done fine work under Superintendents Jere A. Wells and Dr. Willis Sutton," Rich said. "But I believe strongly even greater results can be achieved under the single system."

Asked what objects should be the aim of the proposed new system, Rich said in his opinion politics should be eliminated from the conduct of the schools and teachers' salaries should be main-

Liquor Dealers Promise Purge As Jurors Make Investigation

Atlanta members of a liquor dealers' association have discussed "new and more forceful means to correct violations" and pledged their co-operation with federal, state and city authorities in cleaning up the liquor business.

Meeting at the Ansley hotel yesterday, Atlanta members of the Georgia Distilled Spirits Institute and wholesale dealers voiced intention to correct any abuse by members.

They reaffirmed the purpose of the organization, which was formed some time ago on a state-wide basis to police the liquor business and to assist all governmental agencies in the performance of their duties in harmony with the state alcohol control act.

As the liquor men discussed methods of purging their own ranks of undesirables and preventing persons with criminal records entering the liquor business, State Revenue Commissioner J. Eugene Cook cited Murray W. Harmon, Atlanta liquor dealer, to show cause why his state license should not be revoked. A hearing will be held at 11 a. m. Friday.

Harmon operates four stores, at 245 Fort street, N. E.; 1012 Pryor street. S. W.; 228 Ponce de Leon avenue, N. E., and 844 Memorial drive.

In issuing the citation, Cook said reports in Atlanta newspapers indicate the licenses may have been improperly granted Harmon. City council granted Harmon a license over an adverse report from the police committee inspector. Harmon had a record of violating dry laws during prohibition days.

The state has revoked the license of Mercer Harbin, Atlanta dealer who was criticized by Governor Arnall in campaign addresses and who recently reopened near the Druid Hills Baptist church. Dr. Louie D. Newton called attention to the reopening of the liquor store, and Harbin's police record was cited. Cook said a mistake had been made in issuing the license, and revoked it, effective December 1.

The commissioner also said his department would no longer presume a person had a state license if he were granted a local license. In the future, three investigators from the State Revenue Department will look into the qualifications of applicants.

Meanwhile, the Fulton county grand jury is investigating the records here and in other states of all Atlanta and Fulton county liquor license holders. The jury is expected to look into the practice of city council and its police committee granting licenses to men with criminal records, over adverse reports of investigators.

Luftwaffe Plotting All-Out Blow in Italy

By WES GALLAGHER.

ALLIED MILITARY HEADQUARTERS SOMEWHERE IN ITALY, Nov. 8.—(AP)—There is every prospect that, starting in December, one of the war's last great air struggles will be fought in the skies over Italy between the Luftwaffe and the powerful American-British air force in this theater.

Officers who had been attached to the staff of Field Marshal General Albert Kesselring quote him as saying the full strength of the Luftwaffe will be turned to the Mediterranean for the winter after weather blocks operations on the Russian front.

These officers quote Kesselring as saying "Then I will have a real airforce and we will show the Americans."

Allied military men believe that any such large-scale German air effort will mean its last big gasp of the war.

Not only Allied airmen but many ground generals as well believe that the crack in German military strength in this war will come not in the fleet as in the last war but in the airforce.

Realize Might.

While Kesselring is reported to have been removed from command in Italy and replaced by Field Marshal Erwin Rommel, this is expected to make no difference in the German high command's plans.

The Germans realize fully the might of the Allied airforce being assembled in the Mediterranean for a winter attack against Germany and are determined to stop it at all costs.

This is one of the main reasons why the Nazi high command is making every effort to keep the Allies away from the big bomber fields around Rome as long as possible even at a heavy cost to their ground forces.

It is expected the Germans will concentrate numbers of fighters in the Po valley to try to intercept Allied bomber fleets as they cross the Alps.

The Allied tactical airforce, the largest and most potent weapon of its kind in the world, and the Allied strategic airforce, which is second only to the Britain-based RAF in bomber fleets, welcome this expected showdown battle.

Win Every Struggle.

The Allied airforce in this theater has won every sky struggle since last January against the Luftwaffe by continuous bombing of Nazi airfields until they finally catch the German planes on the ground and wipe them out.

As long as the Americans have daylight bombers to operate over German airfields it is difficult to see how the Germans ever will be able to build up enough strength to challenge the Allies seriously, let alone throw great bomber fleets into action.

A vital factor in air superiority is the daylight bomber and the Germans thus far have been unable to develop such a weapon that can stand up against fighters.

If the Germans do seriously challenge the raids of the new 15th American airforce into the Reich as Kesselring predicted—and lose the battle—they may have only a skeleton airforce in the spring to meet possible invasion from all sides.

Guild Offers 'Wise Child'

The Atlanta Theater Guild will launch its seventh season at the Atlanta Woman's Club auditorium at 8:30 p. m. today with a comedy, "It's a Wise Child."

The Larry Johnson play, originally produced by David Belasco, enjoyed long runs on Broadway. Maureen Beall, director of the Atlanta Guild players, promises three acts of laughs for spectators tonight.

The cast includes George T. Bush, Dr. Frank Belyeu, Sergeant Joe Bryan, Don Bailey, Harold Warren, Bill Bargren, Wilma Gifford, Frances Gridley, Clestelle McNeal, Anne McLaughlin and Kathleen Clanton. Sydney F. Owen is in charge of sets and lighting. Senta Mueller will direct the Guild orchestra.

Proceeds from the show will be used to further the Atlanta Theater Guild's Army entertainment, now in its 30th month. A tour of southern Army camps is planned.

Clay To Check Highway News

In the future state highway department employes, including divisional staffs over the state, must obtain approval of Director Ryburn Clay before providing any information to newspapers or other publications.

Clay said the order was issued to insure accuracy in news of the department's activities and was not an effort to suppress news. In the past some of the information furnished to newspapers has been incorrect, he said. He pointed out that division highway engineers, scattered over the state, often do not have the latest information and sometimes have mistakenly announced projects in their districts.

Under the new order, they are required to check with him before making announcements. This will not delay the news, as the engineers must check with the state headquarters several times daily, Clay said.

"There is no intention or desire to suppress any news," the director asserted. "I want the public and the press to have all the information to which they are entitled, and I believe they are entitled to information about everything the department does."

Benefits Gain For Dependents

The aged, the blind, and the dependent children of Georgia received $4,000,000 more during the past fiscal year than they did in 1941. They got $2,000,000 more than they received in 1942.

That was shown yesterday in a report on Department of Public Welfare operations by State Auditor B. E. Thrasher Jr. Total benefits paids out for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1943, were $9,522,171, as compared with $7,687,321 in 1942, and $5,511,642 in 1941.

There were 70,049 persons on the rolls, drawing an average of $9.83. During the previous year there were 66,088 getting an average of $8.85.

Despite increases in pension rolls and amount of business handled, the administrative costs declined from $366,625 in 1942 to $354,867 this year, and employes decreased from 160 to 112. A. J. Hartley is director of the Department of Public Welfare.

The benefit payments were financed as follows: $4,784,608 from federal grants, $4,256,422 by the state, and $469,925 from counties.

Board Rehears Anderson Plea

With eight jurors declaring the death sentence too severe, the state pardon and parole board has granted a rehearing on the commutation plea of Eddie James Anderson, Negro convicted of slaying James Henry Wilson, a white man, in Augusta.

The board declined to commute the death sentence several weeks ago. Chairman Edward B. Everett said yesterday the board has agreed to rehear the case solely because of the affidavits signed by eight members of the trial jury.

The jurors said they did not take into consideration the Negro's state of mind at the time he stabbed the white man, or in what peril his life may have been in immediately preceding his being struck by the victim. They said Anderson was not directing his offensive language at Wilson's wife, and that Wilson could readily have passed it unnoticed. The testimony was that Wilson objected to Anderson's language, tried to silence him and was stabbed.

Wide Variety of Meats Scheduled for Spring

A wider variety of rationed meats will be available to the housewife during the low ebb of meat production next spring as a result of a rationing plan which encourages meat wholesalers to fill their storage freezers between now and mid-January, the peak period of meat output, according to the Office of Price Administration.

OPA stated that wholesalers who have the facilities to store meat will be loaned ration points with which to buy supplies during the fall period of high production. By increasing the ration purchasing power of wholesalers during these months, a greater variety of meat will be made available next spring, when production is low.

TWO TICKETS TO GEORGIA—Well, it isn't exactly tickets, but it is a genuine invitation from the Governor of Georgia for Colonel Oveta Hobby, national director of WACS, to attend the big WAC enlistment demonstration here Friday. Here Governor Arnall gets the approval of Major Lorene Wolcott, staff director of WACS in the Fourth Service Command covering this section.

Colonel Hobby, WAC Commander, Asked to Georgia

Gable or no Gable, Reagan or no Reagan, Atlanta is still hoping to have the "boss" of the WACS here for the WAC enlistment demonstration Friday.

The "boss" is Colonel Oveta Culp Hobby, and she has been extended the personal invitations of Governor Arnall and Lon Sullivan, chairman of the All-Georgia WAC Unit Campaign.

Of course, the officials would like both Captain Clark Gable and Lieutenant Ronald Reagan, but the Army has said "no" for Gable, so they are concentrating on Reagan and his charming young wife, Jane Wyman.

After wiring Colonel Oveta Hobby, the Governor turned his attention to Reagan, wiring the following to General Henry Arnold, commander of the Army Air Forces:

". . . if need for recruits . . . is as urgent as has been indicated . . . we feel the assistance of Reagan would help make the drive successful . . ."

Chairman Sullivan made the same overture and pointed out that Jane Wyman would be available if her husband was granted permission to attend the enlist-in-the-WACS show in Atlanta.

Manager-Labor Groups Urged

Commending the action of the national management-labor policy committee in pledging specific support for attaining war manpower objectives, Dillard B. Lasseter, regional director of the War Manpower Commission here, sees "encouraging indications that the voluntary system can be made to work without national legislation."

Stating compulsion will settle few manpower problems that cannot be settled by the volunteer system, Lasseter said yesterday better measures are informing and educating people as to what is desirable. The WMC program can be attained "if people will respond," he said.

Lasseter pledged support to a national committee recommendation that the WMC secure and coordinate the full co-operative efforts of employers, workers and community and other government agencies and said this pattern has been followed by the War Manpower Commission.

"It has been recognized," he said, "that people familiar with local problems are best fitted to deal with local problems, and can work with management-labor committees in drawing plans adapted to deal with the local area's wartime needs."

Dead of Wars To Be Honored

DeKalb county's war dead of both World Wars will be honored at 8 p. m. Thursday at services to be held in Presser Hall at Agnes Scott College, Leon Hollingsworth, past commander of the DeKalb County Last Man's Club, has announced.

Dean Raimundo de Ovies, of St. Philip's cathedral, will deliver the memorial address, while Miss Josephine Antoine, opera and radio star, will sing the National Anthem. Others participating in the program will be Dr. J. B. Green, of the Columbia Theological Seminary, and Dr. Donald T. Rowlinson, of the Candler School of Theology.

The glee clubs of both Agnes Scott and Georgia Tech will render a musical program.

Special seats for members of gold star families of both wars will be provided, Hollingsworth said.

In World War I 26 DeKalb county men lost their lives, while thus far in the present war 41 have made the supreme sacrifice, Hollingsworth said.

OPA Revises Atlanta Prices

The district Office of Price Administration has released a revised community-wide price list for all foods in Atlanta and the district, including 98 north Georgia counties. Effective tomorrow, it makes a few changes in the dollars-and-cents ceilings which have been in effect.

Reasons for the change, OPA stated, include slight revisions in wholesalers' prices to retailers which have resulted in slightly raising or lowering the prices of some items, notably in the canned vegetable field.

Other changes in the list are due to the 1943 pack of fruits and vegetables coming on the market and some other items going off the market.

In no case, OPA added, have the increases been more than a cent or two and on some items in the larger stores prices have dropped as much as two cents.

The price list is divided into four groups of stores. Group one is the small, independent or "corner" store; group two is the larger independent store with greater buying power; group three consists of chain stores, and group four includes supermarkets, whether chain-owned or not.

Copies of the revised price lists have been distributed to all stores, where they are required to be displayed in a conspicuous place.

OPA reminded shoppers that any deliberate overcharge above the legal prices displayed should be reported to the price panel of the local war price and ration board which will act to have the overcharge corrected and the proper price observed.

4-H CLUB WORK REVIEW.

INDUSTRIAL COLLEGE, Ga., Nov. 8.—(AP)—Over 30,000 Georgia Negro 4-H Club members will assemble in churches, schools and other places in their respective communities to review their accomplishments of the past year during national 4-4 Club achievement week, November 6-14. Work accomplished by club members during national 4-H Club achievea close and project activity goals for 1944 will be set up.

London Bomb Casualties Soar

LONDON, Nov. 8.—(AP)—Fast German planes attacked London's suburbs again tonight within 24 hours after a single Nazi bomb wrecked a crowded dance hall, the Cinderella, and two taverns with heavy casualties.

The best information was that damage in the new raid, which set off the sirens for the seventh time in as many nights, was small and only a relatively few persons were injured.

Allied fighters and bombers had crossed the channel by daylight to attack Nazi targets in northern France.

The siren blasts found many of the habitually crowded amusement places virtually deserted, for Londoners were shocked by the tragedy of the crushed dance hall.

Bomb School.

As on Sunday night, only a small number of German attackers got across the coast, but a few of them streaked through to the capital's outskirts.

The attackers bombed a school building, injuring several persons; a taxicab garage, and a number of private houses before they were driven off.

An authoritative statement said three of the raiders were destroyed.

A number of American and British service men and women were believed to have been in the dance hall. American and British officers visited a near-by mortuary where the bodies were being identified.

Victims Talk.

The British said officially a "considerable" number of persons were killed. The toll was the greatest since 44 children were killed in the bombing of the Catford school last January 20.

Buildings near the scene of the disaster began collapsing today and mounted policemen held the crowds back.

One rescue worker alone said he pulled out 32 bodies.

Survivors told graphically how it feels to be the target of one of the Germans' new 400-mile-an-hour hit-and-run raiders.

"I was standing talking to my brother," a munition worker in the dance hall related, "and everything seemed to go up in the air and my brother disappeared. Next thing I remember I was digging myself out with my bare hands."

The milkbar was the Sunday night rendezvous for young people of the district, and after the blast parents of dozens of families waited in the street as long as 10 hours for words of their children.

Forays with probably equal surprise effect to the enemy were made across the channel today by the RAF. British, Dutch, French and Polish formations of Mitchells and Boston M and light bombers with strong fighter escort, attacked targets in northern France without seeing an enemy plane.

Kassel Bombed Out, Says Air Ministry

LONDON, Nov. 8.—(AP)—Kassel has ceased to exist as part of the Nazi war industry "for some time at least," the air ministry said tonight after studying new reconnaissance photographs of the heavily bombed Ruhr industrial city of 200,000 persons.

All but 15 of the 315 acres in the built-up section of the city are devastated and nearly half of the rest of the city, excluding the suburbs is destroyed, the ministry said. Double-punch raids occurred on October 4 and October 22. Kassel has been bombed heavily five times during the last six months.

The reconnaissance pictures revealed that 50 factories, some of which the Germans had given the highest priority ratings, were either destroyed or badly damaged.

GATHER PINE CONES.

COCHRAN, Ga., Nov. 8.—A new industry has sprung up in Cochran. Jim Tom Warren is supervising the gathering of pine cones to be shipped to Cornelia, where the seed will be dislodged from the cones and the cones then made into ornaments. There are many long-leaf pines in Bleckley county, as it is on that line in the state where the long-leaf pines begin extending south.

Allies Swiftly Ready 'Second Front' Plans

By LEWIS HAWKINS.

LONDON, Nov. 8.—(AP)—American and British troops are swiftly preparing for the second front which Marshal Joseph Stalin has said is near and which President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill have promised will be on an unprecedented scale.

Bits of information filter through official channels which tell the enemy nothing he doesn't know, but indicate that the preparations are under way on a rising tide of anticipation.

The American Army that will storm history's mightiest fortress will be better prepared, better equipped and in greater strength than any army that ever took the field under the Stars and Stripes.

They will meet the best of Hitler's army beside an Allied force equally powerful, as thoroughly trained in new techniques, and superbly equipped.

Obviously, no major attack will be launched without the full support of armored, artillery and air units.

The framework for the administration, command and supply of military forces on an unprecedented scale is now taking shape in Britain. Within this framework is a liaison organization patterned after that used in the Mediterranean theater to weld Allied land, sea and airforce into a single, devastating weapon.

America's Navy also may be expected to be fully prepared for its place in the armada that may dwarf the Allied Mediterranean fleets.

American units, including an aircraft carrier, are already disclosed to have been operating with the British home fleet, and if reinforcements are needed it may be assumed that other units of the United States fleet will be ranged alongside Britain's squadrons.

Homer Brown Funeral Today

Funeral services for Homer Willard Brown, of 325 Second avenue, S. E., who died Sunday, will be held at 4:30 p. m. today, at Spring Hill, with the Rev. J. Milton Richardson officiating. Burial will be in Jacksonville, Fla.

Brown, who was a director for the Ruralist Press, was formerly vice president of the H. G. Hastings Seed Company.

He was until his retirement several years ago, associated with the Hastings company for nearly 50 years, at one time being manager of the firm's experimental farms. He was a member of the Atlanta Athletic Club.

Deny Leaves for Trips At Yuletide, Firms Asked

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—(AP)—The Office of Defense Transportation today requested all government agencies and private employers to deny holiday vacation leaves to employes, where travel is involved, from December 17 through January 10.

Joseph B. Eastman, ODT director, also urged rigid curtailment of business travel which can be deferred without impairing the war effort.

Maximum curtailment of civilian travel is needed, Eastman said, to prevent interference with the orderly movement of military personnel on furlough during the holidays.

CHEERFUL—Dr. Frank McDaniel, of Conyers, Ga., dentist, smiled yesterday when he arrived at Grady hospital, although physicians told him penicillin would not help his leg.

Penicillin Ruled Out, Dentist Is Facing Fourth Amputation

Dr. Frank McDaniel, Conyers (Ga.) dentist, will not receive the penicillin that brought him to Grady hospital yesterday in the hope the miracle drug might save what remains of his left leg.

Dr. McDaniel has undergone three amputations as a result of infections of the leg—first removal of a toe, then removal at the ankle, and then an amputation near the knee. A fourth operation which would remove the leg above the knee is threatened by an infection starting after the dentist suffered a bruise when he attempted to put on an artificial limb following the third amputation.

After examining the leg Grady physicians told Dr. McDaniel penicillin was not indicated in his case and that even if unlimited supplies of the rare drug were available it would not be prescribed.

Carries Big Load.

However, Dr. McDaniel was cheerful as he left the hospital to return to Conyers, where he has continued practice in spite of the infection.

"There were two dentists in Conyers but one of them has joined the Army and I'm doing the work alone," Dr. McDaniel said. "I guess I'll have to try and stick on the job."

He added a new type of dressing being used on the leg by his physician in Conyers had given him some relief lately and would, he hoped, avoid the fourth amputation.

The Newton county physician called The Constitution when it became apparent the fourth amputation might be necessary and after sulfa drugs had failed to eliminate the infection. Though the Grady hospital physicians, when informed of Dr. McDaniel's plight, offered scant encouragement, the dentist determined to come to Atlanta anyway on the chance an examination might show there was hope for him in the use of the drug.

Dr. McDaniel is only one of several patients who have applied for the drug since news of the Grady supply was published in The Constitution. None of the cases has yet received penicillin, however, hospital authorities said.

Emmerich Gets Civil Service Post; Duties Those of Efficiency Expert

Appointment of Charles O. Emmerich as personnel utilization representative of the Fifth Regional Civil Service Commission here is described by Dillard B. Lasseter, regional director of the War Manpower Commission, as a step in line with the purposes of the Ramspeck investigation committee in Washington, and in accordance with the recommendations of the National Management-Labor Policy Committee.

Emmerich, regional personnel director for National Youth Administration at the time it was killed in July, will serve with the Civil Service Commission to see that local federal agencies use personnel to the best possible advantage and at their highest skill.

His duties will be in accordance with recommendations made by the National Management-Labor Policy Committee in the voluntary manpower stabilization program. This called for a review of administrative agencies to see that remaining government personnel that can be released, be made available to private industry, and that the volume of government forms, reports, and investigations are curtailed to engage the personnel in more useful work.

Efficiency Expert.

Emmerich's position here will correspond to that of the efficiency expert with the Civil Service Commission in Washington. He will work to eliminate all unnecessary personnel and duties, which according to Lasseter, who worked with the Ramspeck committee, is in line with their plans for making utmost use of all government workers.

Although the main work of the Ramspeck committee is going on in Washington, from which source springs many of the unnecessary forms and details required of government workers, it is spreading out constantly.

It is the opinion of the committee that there are yet thousands of people in government service who can be released and will be released gradually as the investigations of the Ramspeck group continue, Lasseter said.

Voluntary Program.

In commenting on the National Management-Labor Policy Committee's indorsement of a voluntary stabilization program instead of national service legislation, Lasseter said the voluntary system has been working in the southeast for several months.

In spite of labor shortages in this region, the co-operation of employers and workers in accomplishing the purposes of the stabilization program is evidence that the manpower problems can be solved on a voluntary basis, he said.

O. E. Myers, regional director of the Civil Service Commission, said Emmerich's work here would save the government money, as a program to utilize manpower on government pay rolls will get underway shortly and surveys ill be made of local federal agencies to curtail unnecessary duties and duplication of work.

Reflect On Heroic Marine Past, Arnall Says on Anniversary Eve

While fighting Marines on Bougainville slashed their way to new successes against the Japanese, preliminary to the 168th birthday of the Leatherneck corps, Governor Arnall called on Georgians to reflect upon the Marines' heroic past on the anniversary date tomorrow.

Emphasizing the birthday observance in Atlanta and in many parts of the world, Governor Arnall's open letter read in part:

"The people of our nation are proud to honor the Marine Corps upon its 168th anniversary. Accordingly, all Georgians should, on November 10, reflect upon the heroic part of the Marines and the patriotic service now being rendered to our nation by this important branch of our military service."

The Atlanta celebration of the anniversary will include a parade tomorrow at noon, with ceremonies at Five Points; a dinner-dance tomorrow night at the Ansley hotel, and talks by Marines in schools and clubs here and in nearby towns.

Thursday night the southern premiere showing of "Guadalcanal Diary" will be seen at the Fox theater. One of the features will be a "foxhole" in the theater lobby in which usable articles no longer needed by patrons may be placed. At the end of the picture's run the Marines and the theater will ship these items to the leathernecks now on Guadalcanal.

Rockmart Legion Post Seeks Larger Building

ROCKMART, Ga., Nov. 8.—The Brown-Wright post of the American Legion has voted to sell the Legion home here, due to the fact that present facilities will not accommodate the membership, it is announced by Commander Julius Ulman.

Plans are being made for the proposed purchase of a more commodious building, which could be used for USO headquarters for soldiers at home on furlough.

The Legion now has a membership of 134.

Appeals Court Upholds Mrs. Hodges' Sentence

A 12-month sentence imposed upon Mrs. Claude Hodges, of Atlanta, for violating lottery laws has been upheld by the Georgia court of appeals.

Records showed Mrs. Hodges was arested while talking to a Negro suspected of lottery operations and while occupying a car in which there was an adding machine. She put up a futile fight at police headquarters to avoid being searched. Police matrons reported finding leaves from a memorandum book and 24 feet of adding machine paper.

Japan Far Behind With Its 'Bridge of Ships'

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—(AP)—Simple arithmetic tells why the little brown men of Nippon have hit a snag in attempting to link Japan and its "co-prosperity sphere" with a bridge of ships.

It would take Japanese shipyards more than four years, working at their previously known peak productive capacity, to make good the announced damage wrought by the Allies in 23 months of war. Even with war-speeded production schedules, there is no doubt Japanese shipping has been hard hit.

Admiral Ernest J. King, commander in chief of the U. S. fleet, in a Navy Day address, said, "Our ships and carrier-based planes have destroyed more than one-third the total tonnage Japan had at the time of Pearl Harbor."

Known top for Japanese ship production was reached in 1919, when, with large imports of steel plate available to them, Nippon's shipways turned out 133 vessels of 611,883 tons.

Canada's Santa Claus Revealed As Construction Firm Official

TORONTO, Nov. 8.—(AP)—A mysterious Mr. X who goes about Canada distributing cash and checks to the surprised by acquiescent populace was disclosed today to be Harry F. MacLean, of the Merrickville, Ont., Construction Company.

According to all available reports, MacLean has plenty of money and gives it away as a hobby. He has a long record as a donor of money and assorted valuables, but has come into prominence most recently during trips to Toronto and Halifax.

In Toronto two weeks ago he prowled about the Christie Street Military hospital armed with a fistful of $100 bills, and anybody was fair game. When he asked one bed-ridden serviceman how he felt, and the serviceman said he was dying, MacLean tossed in an extra C-note and told him that was to buy flowers.

Then he disappeared, after threatening all and sundry with dire consequences if his name were revealed. And he wasn't heard from again until Saturday in Halifax when he gave a check for $2,000 to the baby son of a taxi-driver, tossed another $1,000 at a hotel switchboard girl for distribution among the girl bellhops, and casually handed out great quantities of smaller notes to almost everyone he met.

TORPEDO BOATS "FLEE."

LONDON, Nov. 8.—(AP)—Two British motor torpedo boats, boldly invading Sogne fjord which flows into the North sea about 50 miles north of Berger, Norway, were jumped by a German patrol boat and forced to flee, DNB said today in a Berlin broadcast.

Calls for Investigation

Mrs. Milton W. Bell, executive secretary of the Atlanta Tuberculosis Association, was quoted in a news story in Monday's Constitution as stating that nurses of the association have been offered "all the gasoline they want" without ration coupons, if they will pay 10 cents a gallon above the regular price.

Furthermore, Mrs. Bell said a local high school boy told her "you can have all the gas you want on an A card if you know where to get it."

Mrs. Bell was appealing for greater gasoline allowances for nurses of the Tuberculosis Association when she made the statements quoted.

Whether or not these nurses should be granted supplemental gasoline or not is a matter of far less importance than the alleged violations of gasoline rationing regulations. If the charges can be substantiated they constitute one of the gravest indictments against the patriotism and honesty of some of our citizens.

An "A" gasoline book permits its holder to secure some two gallons a week. Which means a weekly mileage of probably not over 25 miles. Certainly not more than 30 miles. The number of automobiles bearing only an "A" sticker, seen on the uptown streets day after day, would seem to be corroboration of the charge that many auto owners are getting unrationed gas with the connivance of unscrupulous station operators.

It should not be too difficult for the rationing authorities or the OPA to verify or disprove the charges made by Mrs. Bell. If they are true, drastic action should be taken to halt the dishonest, and unpatriotic practice.

The great majority of automobile owners are loyally operating their cars as little as possible and obeying rationing regulations. It is unfair to these when others, unrestrained by decent conscieuce, conspire to violate the rules.

And it is, of course, rank betrayal of everyone of our fighting men on the battlefronts of the world, to imperil the flow of gasoline which they must have if they are to defeat the Axis foes.

Food for Britain

Food shipments from the United States to Great Britain under lend-lease will be reduced during the coming months, it is reported in London, to provide shipping space for what is said to be impending military operations on a vast scale—possible background for Premier Stalin's recent assurance to his leaders that a "real second front is not far behind the hills."

While there will be less food shipments from the United States it is reported there will be more from the Mediterranean area, which has been practically cleared of Axis menace. New kinds of foodstuffs will be arriving from North Africa, Sicily and Italy, to augment the quantity and variety of rations now obtainable in the British Isles.

Representatives of the British ministry of foods are touring the food-producing areas of the Allied world to find out exactly how much of each commodity can be bought or borrowed for shipment to England. More canned meats, beef and mutton are to be imported from South American countries. And good news to the fruit-starved British civilians is the report of sizeable shipments of oranges, tangerines, lemons and grapefruit to come this winter from the Mediterranean zone. To this will be added nuts and olive oil, extremely scarce since the war began, and which will be imported from Italy and Sicily. Home-caught fish will receive additions from stocks of canned Mediterranean fish varieties.

Generally speaking, the change in rations will be for the better, according to one authority, for Britons who, during the past four years of hard war, have survived and stoically endured the unchanging monotony of the foodstuffs that were available.

Civic Opera

In its maiden effort, Atlanta's Civic Opera Company has produced a hit.

Five performances of Victor Herbert's "Naughty Marietta" were presented at the Erlanger theater last week by the local company, with two imported stars. All performances, except the opening night, were sell-outs.

It is reliable indication that Atlanta is ready to support its own opera company and that this company, by the caliber of its performance, merits this support. The imported stars, of course, contributed to the excellence of the production. Others will be brought here to work with Atlanta artists in regular productions now planned by Director John Hoffman who announces the next, "My Maryland," for February.

This means that, at last, Atlanta talent will find artistic expression and valuable experience on the homefront. For years this city has fed the opera companies of other cities. Atlanta singers, dancers and instrumentalists have had to forage for greener pastures in which to try-out.

Last summer the Atlanta Civic Ballet was represented at the Memphis Civic Opera Company. The Metropolitan Opera Company's two stars with "Cracker" drawls worked for years in other cities before gaining their goal. Tomorrow's ballet and singing stars who hail from Georgia will find opportunity here, not only to train, but also to appear in productions with established guest artists.

Atlanta has the most pretentious operatic heritage of any city outside of New York city. The Metropolitan Opera journeyed here in 1910, never having appeared outside of Gotham before. Pioneering impressarios have brought Atlanta audiences the best of music for many years. At last, it appears young Georgia artists will be given a chance to cash in on Atlanta's musical traditions.

One and all are amazed that the great Moscow conference did not set a date for another. We supposed that was the first, if not the only, business of conferees.

Propaganda Only

The announcement by Allied headquarters that a thorough investigation has shown Vatican City was not bombed by Allied planes last week gives the lie to German propaganda obviously timed to distract attention from the battlefronts at Kiev, the Dneiper river bend, and in Italy. On all those fronts the Hun is taking a terrific beating. The high command knows this, but does not want the German masses to know it. That is, not know it too much.

It is impossible, even in tightly censored Germany, to keep entirely from the people news of military reverses. This was the principal reason why the propaganda line last week stressed the charges of air attacks on Vatican City. Through it, the Germans hoped to divert thinking about the recent military defeats. Perhaps the dodge worked in Germany; perhaps it did not.

At any rate, from our standpoint, the word of Allied headquarters that the Vatican was not bombed is good enough for us. The Germans have been notorious for lying.

Fewer Violent Deaths

It is interesting to note that homicides and suicides have dropped to extremely low levels during the first nine months of 1943. The homicide rate of 3.3 per 100,000 was the lowest for any corresponding nine-month period, while the suicide rate of 6.4 per 100,000 was only slightly higher than the alltime low of 6.1 recorded in 1920, according to statisticians of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company.

Interesting also are the factors believed responsible for the low rate of mortality. They are lack of major epidemics and the increased income for large sections of the population which has brought a higher standard of living to many families. In the phrase, "higher standard of living" is seen a beacon light for the post-war years. When men can earn a decent living, they do not kill themselves because of dispair brought on by distressed economic situations.

Georgia Editors Say:

THEY FIGHT TOGETHER

(From The Quitman Free Press.)

In the stories about the fighting men at the front, you are impressed by the loyalty they have for each other. There are occasional stories about men who are wounded and who might get a medical discharge but don't want it; they want to get back and go on with their comrades. There was the story last week of the flyer in the Pacific who was returning to his aircraft carrier when he discovered a lot of Jap Zeros after him. He turned out to sea and lured them away from the carrier, thus deliberately choosing to sacrifice himself rather than expose all his outfit to danger.

These men will never understand the divisions on the home front. They will never understand why anybody thinks Democrats and Republicans are important or why anybody should complain about rationing of gas or anything else. In fact, we gather that these boys who are out there think it would help everybody get together if they got shot at least once.

WASHINGTON PARADE

By GLADSTONE WILLIAMS.

WHEN WILL NAZIS QUIT? WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—After pondering the many facts revealed to him on his 40,000-mile inspection tour of major Allied battle fronts Senator Richard B. Russell, who served as chairman of the special senate globe-girdling committee, has projected a date for the end of the war in Europe.

The Georgia senator believes that the bloody business will come to an end in Europe next March.

It is not a date that he has merely pulled out of a hat. He is able to build up a plausible thesis in support of the prediction that the Hitlerite hordes will fold up by then.

As for the war in the Pacific, he is less certain. The Japs, he believes, may be counted on to carry the fight much longer, perhaps a year at least. It might take longer.

But he sees events crowding in on Germany in such a way that we may reasonably look for a collapse either of the Nazi military machine or the home front by the end of the winter now close upon us. How he arrives at next March as the month to mark the end of hostilities makes interesting reading. Here it is:

The Germans now realize they are doomed to defeat, of course. All of the evidence from Allied intelligence sources and neutral countries points in this direction. The Nazis are holding on in the hope of securing a negotiated peace, realizing that only in that way will they be able to save their necks from the gallows.

THE BETTER FOR THEM The mass of the German people, however, and the German military leaders, have no such stake in the ultimate outcome. They must realize—those who are informed on the true situation—that the sooner the war is over the better it will be for them.

The last thing that any German could want, of course, would be to see the Russians move into Reich territory. With them the Soviet army would bring the Poles, the Greeks, the Czechs and other oppressed peoples who have felt the weight of the Nazi yoke. The slaughter that would follow inside Germany would be shocking, though no worse, perhaps, than that which the Germans themselves have inflicted on conquered countries.

If the Russians are able to keep up their present great offensive stride, the winter should see them hammering at the Polish boundaries and threatening German forces in the Balkans. Spring should find the Red army in position to make a real thrust at Germany proper.

BLOW FROM WEST? But the German command will fully realize by then that it is threatened not only by a Russian offensive in the east, but new Allied blows from the west as well. The long awaited second front in Europe proper, outside of Italy, is sure to be launched next spring, if it does not actually come much sooner. Spring is the generally accepted date among military observers because of the difficult weather conditions in France during the winter.

The weather is against a second front in western Europe this winter. The last big push of Von Hindenburg in World War I was started on March 21, 1918. That is about as early as troops can maneuver in France and the Low Countries. Hitler and informed elements of the German people know this well enough. They know that the real blows for knocking Germany out of the war will come not later than next spring.

With this sort of a background, Senator Russell points to the situation that will exist by the end of the current winter in Germany. For the first time in the five long weary years of war the military command and the people will realize that Germany is no longer able to mount an offensive with the advent of spring.

Instead, the coming of spring will see the German army put to its most severe trial of the entire war, with ultimate defeat a practical certainty.

TOTAL DEPRESSION The consciousness of that realization will be depressing enough to force Germany out of the war, the senator believes. To view the future with utter hopelessness will be the outlook of the German people. Winter, with its accumulation of disasters on the Russian front and intensified bombing attacks from the air, will fade in favor of a worse vista for spring.

As the senator sees it, Germany's cup of woe will be filled to overflowing before the winter ends. The country will be seized with an overwhelming feeling of futility. Hitler and his Nazi gang will be thrown out unceremoniously and overtures for peace will come.

It will come suddenly and startlingly, much in the manner of the Mussolini downfall in Italy. The European war will end in March, the month before the beginning of spring.

BOLD, BUT REASONABLE It is a rather bold prediction, but it is not without elements of reason that are entirely plausible. Senator Russell offers it not so much as a prediction as a thesis—a justifiable thesis, he believes, in the light of the known circumstances.

What he thinks about the situation is entitled to all the more consideration for the reason that few men in the government service, outside of our military leaders, have had opened to them the same amount of information regarding war events as he received on his tour of Allied world bases.

SILHOUETTES

By RALPH T. JONES.

Tricks of an Encyclopedia.

Dudley Glass has taken care of that chore in altogether satisfactory manner in his column.

However, yesterday morning there was a little question concerning the Marines for which answer was sought. Naturally, the hand turned toward those shelves which hold the volumes of the encyclopedia.

I got down the volume "M to Mexico" and hunted for "Marines." Found it, too, with one line of information only. That line read "See 'Navy of United States.'"

So I put back that volume and took from the shelf the one designated "Naval Observatory to Orleans." Turned pages until I came to "Navy of the United States." What did it say? Why, just one line again. Instructing you to see "United States, Navy of."

And, in "Trance to Venial Sin" I found pages of information about the Navy, including the Marines, but not the particular information I sought.

Oh, well—

It Grows Monotonous.

I know, none better, that we are living in the most dramatic period in history. I know that more depends, for the future decency of the human race, on this war now raging than has ever before hinged on outcome of any struggle.

I know that most of us find our minds obscessed with the day by day story of the war's progress. I'll confess I do.

Nevertheless, the war news of recent weeks has become, in some details, monotonous.

It is the same thing, day after day and, after all, a fellow can't find maps to locate all those Russian towns and villages and cities which make the headlines.

Oh, we know where Kiev is, and Rostov and Stalingrad and Odessa and Sevastopol. And other most important cities in Russia.

But, practically every day, we read where the Russians have taken some place we never heard of before. It is always an important railroad or road junction or the key to some strategic position. It always includes an advance of five or six miles and the occupation of 40 or 60 or 75 towns. And it always threatens to cut off large forces of outflanked German troops.

Just change the names—most of which are totally unfamiliar anyway—and it is the same story repeated day after day.

Of course, you can follow the Russian campaign in its broad outline. You know the Russians are driving the Nazis out of their country. You realize the strategic importance when the Russians close the last route of escape for Germans in the Crimea. Though, do you remember, the Red armies were cutting Crimean escape routes daily for a week or more before the place was finally sealed off?

We can't expect really exciting news to break every day. But I am getting hungry for the announcement that the last German on Russian soil has been killed or captured, that the Nazi brutes have been driven back, through old Poland and Rumania and other border states and, at last, are being slain on German soil.

And in Italy And the Pacific.

There are comparable situations on both the Italian and South Pacific fronts. General Clark's Fifth Army advances a few miles, it seems every day, thus bringing a few new Italian place names into type for our identification and study. And General Montgomery's Eighth Army makes more secure its hold north of the Trigno line.

Undoubtedly our boys, and the British, and the Russians, are doing some magnificent fighting. Undoubtedly each of those captured places marks an achievement won only at the cost of colossal effort, tremendous bravery and tragic loss.

But the advance is slow. And it calls for patience on our part. We can't always have news as thrilling as that of November 3 a year ago when the first North African landings by Americans were made, or that of the day when we first learned Montgomery's Eighth had landed on the soil of Italy proper. Or that old Benny the Bum had been kicked out by the Italians. And so on.

I repeat, however, the war news of recent weeks has become touched with monotony. Even General MacArthur's boys seem to do the same things over and over again. Land on some island with a funny name, sink a number of Jap ships or bomb the daylights out of some Jap base or other.

Remember, though, that monotony is not ours alone. I'll bet it's monotonous for the boys slogging through swamps in the Solomons, fighting their way, step by step, up the slopes of the Italian hills.

FAIR ENOUGH

By WESTBROOK PEGLER.

Foregone Conclusion NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—It was a foregone conclusion that, on appeal to Washington, Joseph Curran, the president of the National Maritime Union, would be permanently excused from the armed forces and relieved of all risks of that second front in France for which he and other soap-box commandos of the Communist party line have been clamoring. In recognition of his valuable services in furtherance of the conspiracy to seize the American Merchant Marine, Mr. Curran has been placed in 2-A by Major General Lewis B. Hershey, director of selective service, who acted by order of President Roosevelt. The case went to the President on appeal by the union, which is to say on appeal by Curran himself, because he runs the union, after appeal board No. 4 had overruled a deferment granted by Local Board 18. Meanwhile, of course, other clients of Local Board 18, laeking Curran's political influence at the White House and the correct ideology, are off in the fighting forces, some of them, no doubt, in battle.

Curran's slogan and the basis on which his indispensability was based is that he keeps them sailing by sending other men to sea through the agency of the union. That many of those who do go to sea as civilian merchant sailors have been draft-dodgers attracted by high wages, some of the officers of the Navy's armed guard or gun crews will testify with disgust if they are assured that they will not be identified until the war is over and they are safe from political persecution by the pro-Communist authority in Washington. Thus the Navy Department protects the Navy's enemies and punishes officers who would like to tell about the loafing of union sailors and the heckling and harassment of enlisted men by seagoing civilians.

Vessel Attacked One such officer recently told of taking a stand when his vessel was attacked and threatening to shoot any member of the crew who tried to put a boat over and abandon the ship without orders while his own bluejackets stood by their guns. He recalled also the refusal of a young merchant sailor to help his men load ammunition because that was not his work. And the incident aboard a transport in which the merchant crew knocked off at quitting time and took the winch controls into seclusion with them so that the Army could not scab their job of unloading stores which were needed in a hurry by soldiers fighting the Japs not far away, has been related independently by two young officers, one of the Navy, the other of the Army, back from the South Pacific. In fact, the files of the Navy, the Coast Guard and the shipping companies contain a rich and racy record of the conduct and attitude of unionized civilians in the war zones in contrast with the disciplined loyalty of the armed forces.

The secret of the contrast may be found in the oath which is forced upon sailors of the merchant service which runs as follows: "I solemnly swear to be true and loyal to the union and the labor cause and to put into practice the principles laid down by the preamble and the constitution, and to obey all rules the union may adopt." The enlisted sailors and commissioned officers of the Navy, of course, swear to uphold the Constitution of the U. S. A. above all others.

Under this oath, the merchant sailor makes himself liable to fines and to dismissal from the sea if he condemns Communism and, in a notable case, a man actually was put on the beach in New York and fired from an Army transport at that, because he had offered a resolution against Communism in a convention of Curran's union in Cleveland.

Ruled Off Sea And, although, Mr. Curran gets his deferment for keeping 'em sailing and although many new American ships have been turned over to the British, Norwegians and Dutch because we could not man them, this union, through its own private system of kangaroo courts, regularly grinds out sentences which rule sailors off the sea for periods of from six months to 99 years or life for "condust unbecoming a union member," which may be only an anti-Communist remark, impoliteness to a Communist union official or some familiar manifestation of racial disharmony.

At one recent meeting 13 sailors were beached for varying periods, at another two were laid up and at another 11 were subtracted from the merchant service, most of them for "conduct unbecoming to union men."

Mr. Curran constantly boasts that he has raised the civilian sailors' wages enormously but the union just as vigorously resents reminders that the men are paid vastly more than the bluejackets who sail on the same ships and share the same perils.

The union is much embarrassed by references to draft-dodging and therefore one brother recently expelled from the union because, among other offenses, he was alleged to have said "he was not interested in the union and would not be at sea now had it not been for the draft board."

GRAINS OF SAND.

And God is able to make all grace abound toward you; that ye, always having all sufficiency in all things, may abound to every good work.—2 Corinthians 9:8.

A traveler who walked from the Golden Gate to New York, was asked what was the greatest difficulty he had encountered on his long journey. His reply was simply, "sand in my shoes." It is not the mountains that loom ominously before us or the swollen streams, it is the little irritations that all but defeat us.

ONE WORD MORE

By RALPH McGILL.

FIRST ANNUAL BANQUET While the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce is growing and advancing, one of its committees has been going backward at a very rapid rate. In fact, it is my studied opinion that this particular committee has declined more than any other committee in the history of all committees.

I refer to the committee on the annual banquet of the Chamber. The names of the gentlemen on this committee are not known to me. I am sure they are kind to children and old persons. They are, no doubt, successful in business and staunch citizens.

Yet as a committee they are failures.

What is more, I can prove it.

At hand is a copy of the first annual Chamber of Commerce banquet menu. It was served at the Kimball House on the evening of February 13, 1890. The dinner was as follows:

Blue Point Oysters ..... Haut Sauterne
Bisque of Shrimps ..... Amontillado
Broiled Ogeechee Shad .....
Chateau Latour Blanche
Sweetbread Patties, French Peas Pontet Canet
Filet of Beef, mushrooms, string beans
Terrapin Stew, Fricassee of Frog Legs Veuve Cliquot, Roman Punch
Canvas Back Duck with cresses ..... Chambertin
Biscuit Glace, Charlotte Russe
Roquefort Neufchatel Cheese. Bents Crackers
Coffee, Cordial Medoc

There, my fellow countrymen, was a dinner! A man could get his teeth into a dinner like that. There was a dinner with a real committee behind it. There was a dinner which makes modern dinners of the Chamber of Commerce appear like the blue plate special at the Busy Bee cafe. That was a banquet. What are these things they serve us today?

ATLANTA SPIRIT No wonder Atlanta grew as she did in those days. A dinner such as that put spirit into a man. A man could eat a dinner such as that and go out and really build a city. After such a dinner nothing is impossible.

Maybe that's what is wrong with us today. If we are not getting more and better industries it is because the Chamber of Commerce annual dinner committee has fallen down on the job. It is starving the builders of cities.

When a man finishes one of the modern dinners, so often called "banquets," he feels no urge to build a city. He goes home and takes a dose of bicarbonate of soda.

I don't know why it is the art of eating has so declined. A cup of lukewarm soup, tasting of flour or starch; a thin, half chicken, broiled, and known to those who must attend a great many annual "banquets" as "eagles"; a little paper cup of peas and a dab of potatoes, do not make a banquet. Even if it says so on the menu, it is not a banquet.

In this day of rationing a man can be pretty confident that when the main course is brought in it will be an eagle he finds on his plate. It is very difficult to get steaks. But even in the days when food could be had in plentiful quantities one was rather sure to run into "eagles" on five out of six dinners attended.

All imagination about the art of dining seems to have disappeared. A committee with imagination prepared that menu of February 13, 1890. There isn't an "eagle" on it anywhere. There is a soul in that dinner.

THE GENTLE ART I would like to see a revival of the gentle art of banquets when the war is done and food rationing disappears.

I have never been able to determine when it was the art disappeared. One theory is it was brought on by prohibition. The quality of hooch was so bad that after a few rounds a person didn't know or care what was being served. After a while the art of cooking and planning for real dinners went into a decline. That brought on pre-dinner drinking and the thing became one of those vicious circles.

This country was built by men who ate. Banquets were banquets and food was important. It created men who built great cities. I think perhaps a research man would find that we slowed down as a people about the time eating went out of style.

At any rate, I think I will send this menu over to the Chamber of Commerce so that the committee for this year's annual dinner may be inspired. It is a tough year in which to plan dinners because some days it is very difficult to get enough of those thin, scrawny eagles to broil up for the guests at a "banquet."

Still, maybe it will inspire the chamber committee to duplicate the dinner of 1890. Carlyle Fraser is a good trencherman and he has eaten enough eagles in his time really to get interested in the culinary triumphs of the Atlanta chamber of 1890. If they ever do duplicate the triumph of 1890 I want to be there.

The menu, incidentally, is artistically done showing the burned city of 1864 and, above it, the thriving metropolis of 1890. And the hotel was known simply as "The Kimball." I don't know when it had "House" added to its name.

I have just read the menu again and I think I will go out to tea.

The Arab Ruler Learned Wisdom by Going Among His People as One of Them

By ROBERT QUILLEN.

With few exceptions, all men are sincere and all mean well. When political, intellectual or social leaders do or say anything that is wrong or hurtful, it is not because of evil intent but almost invariably a result of ignorance.

When Willkie went to Russia and returned to write a famous book, he confessed that his previous ideas about the Russians had been wrong. In the past he had expressed his opinions sincerely and honestly, but if they were right it was only by accident, for they were based upon misconceptions. When he saw the truth, he realized that his old opinions were wrong and was honest enough to confess it.

The point to remember is that he was ignorant and therefore incapable of forming sound opinions until he visited Russia himself. Even then he learned only a small fraction of the truth, for nobody can comprehend the whole story of a nation in a few days.

When a professional writer, working for a national magazine, writes a critical article about the people of Maine or Florida or Texas or Arkansas or Oregon, he makes an honest effort to tell the truth—unless he is blinded by some secret prejudice. And all that he says may seem true to nine-tenths of his readers, but those who live in the criticized area will think some of his statements absurd and some funny and some maliciously unfair.

The only way to know a country, or any part of it, is to live in it—or stay in it long enough to make an intensive and comprehensive study of it. Most of us are provincial—especially the residents of New York City—and have little more knowledge of other sections of our country a thousand miles away than we have of Canada or Mexico.

This is unfortunate, for what happens in one section affects all sections in some degree, and free people can't protect their own interests unless they are informed. But it is doubly unfortunate—tragic, in fact—when those who know only one small section of the country are empowered to make laws for all of it.

There are few tests to reveal how much congressmen know about their nation and its multitudinous affairs, but it is significant that any one of them can win national fame by investigating some important detail of the public's business and revealing facts that should have been known to all of them.

Ignorance of our country causes most of the blunders made by leaders. We would be safer in future if no university student could graduate without spending his fourth year in a school a thousand miles from the one where he matriculated, and earning his living in that section during the last vacation.

OFF THE RECORD—By Ed Reed

"I'm giving ALL my salary for freedom—half for bonds and half for alimony!"

Dudley Glass

The United States Marines are getting along in years. They're 168 years old tomorrow. But tougher than ever.

Reason I'm devoting all this space to the Marines is because I've always had a fellow feeling for them. For no good reason, because I have no kin in that uniform, as far as I know. I asked a psychiatrist about that and he traced it down to this:

There used to be a popular saying: "Tell it to the Marines." Which indicated a Marine would believe anything. So I was a Marine in spirit. I started out believing in Santa Claus and then in William Jennings Bryan. But as time marched on there were so many cults and parties and movements I couldn't believe in all of them so I made a complete reversal. Now I don't believe in anything except the monthly statement from my bank. It's never been wrong yet.

I promised my old friend, Major Meigs Frost, the public relations man for the southeast, that I'd mention the Marines' birthday. And I always keep a promise if it's convenient.

The Marines, then, antedated the United States of America, three regiments being organized in New York in 1740. Lawrence Washington, a brother of the more famous George, was an officer. But they date this birthday from 1775, when the Marines began fighting the British aboard American ships. They fought side by side with the sailors of John Paul Jones and other naval heroes of that war. Incidentally, most people seem to think the tight little isle of England has not been invaded since the Romans took over—and after that William the Norman.

But the Americans under John Paul Jones did invade England in the Revolution. At least they landed men and burned several coast towns. They didn't make a play for London.

The Marines will stage a big parade tomorrow at noon. The marchers will pause at Five Points long enough to hear the brief history of the Marine Corps read by an officer. That's a tradition. On every ship, in every invaded land, on every South Pacific island, in every jungle, where a few or many Marines are stationed, they will be assembled to hear that brief history. It is a ritual.

I should think this history has expanded quite a lot since the Marines reached "the halls of Montezuma" in the war with Mexico and the "shores of Tripoli" when the United States grew tired of paying tribute to North African pirates and decided to go in and clean them out. Which was promptly done—with important assistance by the Marines.

The Marines, according to Major Frost, who sometimes seems to believe this war would have been over long ago if the Army and Navy had left the Marines alone to handle the job, usually are the first ashore in an invasion. And they have been left to take charge of things in occupied lands. I'm speaking of our little affairs with Haiti and Puerto Rico, Vera Cruz and all such. The Army and Navy seem to be sharing pretty well in this war.

Besides the parade there will be a Marine dance at the Ansley tomorrow night. And the next day, which is Armistice Day, Richard Tregaskis, author of Guadalcanal Diary, will be in Atlanta to make a speech—largely devoted to the Marines and how they fought the Japs and licked them.

I like the Marines because they are so cocky. They don't think they're the best fighters on earth—they know it. That's beaten into them at Parris Island and the big newer camp at New River, on the North Carolina coast—with beaches and swamps and rivers to cross and mud and alligators.

The Marines insist that their training is the toughest known since Roman galley slaves, chained to their benches, pulled at giant oars. The Army and Navy may deny that—but I do know from personal interviews that a course in elementary Marine training will either kill a man or cure him of what ails him. When he wins his diploma cum laude he is ready to fight two wildcats with his bare hands and place a three-to-one bet on himself.

Among the many stories about the Marines is that one in which a slightly boastful corporal told of what they had done in certain campaigns.

"Remember," interrupted an Army colonel, "that every Marine in action has six soldiers on one side of him and six sailors on the other."

"That's the right proportion, Colonel," said the Marine. "But sometimes we wish the soldiers and sailors would spread out more and give us some elbow room."

They call them Leathernecks. Because the sun and heat of the tropics, where they have done much of their fighting, is not conducive to building that skin you love to touch. Kipling called them "soldier and sailor, too," and they have been called "half horse, half alligator." I have yet to hear a soft and tender term for a Marine. They wouldn't like one, either.

Originally, the Marines were supposed to sail on fighting ships and do most of the fighting while the sailors ran the ship.

Today there are seven branches of the corps. There are aviators—pilots of land planes and sea planes; the "line;" and various "desk jobs," as in the other services. But they have all gone through the mill—trained to crawl through a jungle, sleep in a foxhole full of water and enjoy a breakfast of fried scrap iron with a dash of crankcase oil for salad dressing.

Furniture Men Meet Thursday

Rau.

The special fall war problems conference, sponsored by furniture retailers of the southeast and the National Retail Furniture Association, to be held here Thursday, will bring together leading dealers and government representatives for the discussion of pertinent plans for the operation of furniture stores.

Roscoe R. Rau, of Chicago, executive vice president of the National Retail Furniture Association, will address the morning session on "The Prospects of New Supplies of Home Goods."

Following the official welcome by Clarence Haverty, of Atlanta, president of the National Retail Furniture Association, D. D. Eaves, of Richmond, Va., will serve as chairman of the forenoon program, presenting Rau and other speakers, including J. G. Mathews, Montgomery, Ala.; S. G. Carkeet, of Memphis, and George C. Biggers, of Atlanta.

An address by Harrison Jones, chairman of the board of the Coca-Cola Company, on a "Program for Business in Post-war Planning," will feature the luncheon meeting at 12:30 p. m.

Constangy.

In the afternoon a message of practical interest will be given by Frank Constangy, deputy commissioner of the Regional War Manpower Commission of Atlanta. He will discuss "Manpower for Retailing," a subject vital and of growing interest to retailers throughout the country.

A special meeting following adjournment of the afternoon session will include a story of the "Inside Washington Picture" by Leo J. Heer, vice president of the NRFA, whose office and contacts with OPA and other government agencies has afforded a wealth of information for members of the furniture clan.

The conference will be an all-day affair beginning at 9:30 a. m. at the Ansley hotel.

A FARMER WRITES.

Editor Constitution: I am a farmer and I believe the majority of the farmers feel as I do about these strikes.

Suppose we farmers were to say, well, we've got to have 30 cents for our cotton, $3 for our wheat, and so forth.

Why, those fellows up there in Washington would let out a howl you could hear from there to Tokyo!

Suppose our sons and brothers who are fighting and dying in Europe and Asia, out on the Pacific and up in Alaska at bright blue yonder, were to say, "our days are too long, we've got to have more pay, and if we knock off a few Japs after sundown we've got to have overtime."

It amounts to the same thing. Every hour lost through strikes means that much longer to win this war and a few more boys in a lonely grave.

I think it's time to quit using gloves on these strikers. I say any government that can handle its armed forces without any trouble, can also handle the labor part at home. We need some two-fisted legislation to take care of these strikers. Why not put them in the Army?

If the men we've got in Washington can't handle these things we need some changes made.

R. A. MAUGHON.
Good Hope, Ga.

CHISTMAS APPEAL.

Editor, Constitution: For many years, Tuskegee Institute has served as a medium through which friends in all sections of the country have, at the Christmas season, gladdened the hearts of children of low income rural families. Without these gifts many such homes would have had nothing to remind them of Christmas except the absence of gay-colored packages due to their destitution or disappointmentment over expected returns from crops.

Trained workers at Tuskegee Institute who serve in these areas report this year many examples of real sacrifice among the children of such homes to help with the war effort. Children, frequently ill-clad, have gathered scrap and otherwise earned a few pennies here and there with which to purchase war stamps.

It is to encourage such children that we again appeal to the public for discarded clothing, shoes and other material such as books and toys which may be repacked into gifts for distribution in homes and community assemblies. Some friends prefer to send money which we use to purchase fruit, candy and such other things as may be needed to complete the indivdual packages. In a few exceptional instances, we have paid for urgently needed and long deferred hospital treatment of a deserving child or an adult as a very special Christmas gift.

Thanks to victory gardens and the food preservation program there is less danger this winter of outright hunger, but the need for wearing apparel is urgent and each such gift releases a few more pennies for further purchases of war stamps and at the same time reduces health hazards from exposure.

We, therefore, make this earnest appeal for material donations and funds to continue Tuskegee's Christmas gift distribution for 1943. Packages and letters may be addressed to F. D. Patterson, president; Tuskegee Institute, Alabama.

F. D. PATTERSON.
Tuskegee, Ala.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon from the First Baptist church with the Rev. Roy C. Matthews, his pastor, officiating. Burial will be in the city cemetery.

Surviving are his wife; five daughters, Mrs. Levi Turner, Mrs. Charles Mann, Mrs. John H. Fargason and Misses Lila and Henrietta Amis, and two sons, W. W. and R. D. Amis.

Bridges, Buildings Hit In Burma by U. S. Pilots

NEW DELHI, India, Nov. 8.—(AP)—Locomotives, water towers, bridges and buildings were strafed and bombed in sweeps of the American Air Force over northern and central Burma yesterday, and the Bhamo landing ground was torn up, a communique from Lieutenant General Joseph W. Stilwell's headquarters said today.

Undaw, Mahnyin, Maymyo, 20 miles east of Mandalay, and the railways between Naba and Mogaung, from Hamaing to Walabum and south of Namma were the targets.

Faulty Pleas for Birth Certificates From State Delay War Jobs for 3,622

Dear Sir: Please send me Mary Jones' birth certificate."

Because hundreds of Georgians write such notes as that—minus necessary information as to who Mary Jones is and where and when she was born—the state department of public health has had to return 3,622 letters thus far this year requesting birth certificates.

That, in these war days when the demand is for delayed birth certificates among men and women having to prove they were born before they can get war jobs, holds up issuance of such certificates an average of six weeks, according to L. M. Lacy, office supervisor of vital statistics division.

"There are hundreds of Mary Joneses in Georgia's 159 counties, and we have no way of knowing whom the application is for unless adequate information is given," Lacy said. "Birth certificates are filed under the father's name, because this name is constant and not subject to change as is that of the wife or children. In applying for a birth certificate, a person should give his father's name, his mother's maiden name, his own name, and the date and county of his birth."

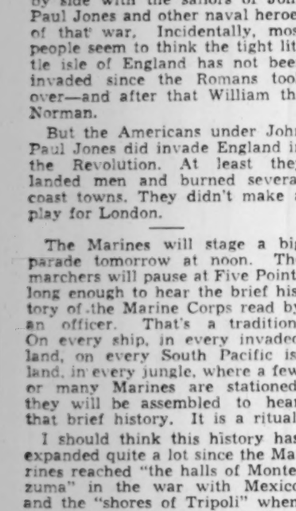

Practically all of these 3,622 applicants whose letters were returned will eventually receive their birth certificates, Lacy pointed out. But the health department has had a few applicants who were turned down because they did not have adequate proof.

Such a "man without a country" in these days when so much stress is placed on place-of-birth turned up in Atlanta the other day. He had been a concession operator for a circus for more than a quarter of a century. He said he was born in Atlanta. His travels with the circus had made his life different from the life of a normal individual—so he had no school report cards, no insurance premiums, no social security card, or, in fact, no documentary evidence of his birth. So he was unable to get a birth certificate which he needed for a job taking him into a shipyard.

The state health department is issuing 250 birth certificates daily. It is current now with its issuance of delayed birth certificates, having worked through a pending file of more than 9,000 applications during the past few months. Now it takes a maximum of only 24 hours to get a birth certificate if all information is presented with the application.

Work of the health department was reduced when the legislature permitted the county ordinaries to issue delayed birth certificates. Because ordinaries have been issuing hundreds of certificates to war workers, the health department has issued 20,602 fewer delayed birth certificates thus far this year than it did over the similar period of 1942. Prior to November 3, the state department had granted 30,531 delayed certificates, as compared with 50,953 last year. Issuance of current birth certificates picked up, however, with the increasing birth rate. The department issued a total of 57,334 certificates for both delayed and current birth certificates this year, which was 5,221 fewer than the 62,555 last year.

Amazing Way for "RUN-DOWN" people to get NEW VITALITY..PEP!

2—Energize your body with RICH, RED BLOOD!

THESE two important steps may help you to overcome the discomforts or embarrassment of sour stomach, jerky nerves, loss of appetite, underweight, digestive complaints, weakness, poor complexion!

A person who is operating on only a 70 to 75% healthy blood volume or a stomach digestive capacity of only 50 to 60% normal is severely handicapped.

So with ample stomach digestive juices PLUS RICH, RED-BLOOD you should enjoy that sense of well being which denotes physical fitness . . . mental alertness!

If you are subject to poor digestion or suspect deficient red-blood as the cause of your trouble, yet have no organic complication or focal infection, SSS Tonic may be just what you need as it is especially designed to promote the flow of VITAL DIGESTIVE JUICES in the stomach and to build-up BLOOD STRENGTH when deficient.

House Group Boosts Liquor Tax to $10

By FRANCIS M. LEMAY.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—(AP)—Reversing itself again, the House Ways and Means Committee decided today to increase the liquor tax to $10 a gallon, which would amount to 12.5 cents a drink for 100-proof liquor when figuring 80 drinks to the gallon.

The present spirits tax is $6. The committee previously had jumped the tax to $10, backtracked to $8, and now has put it back to $10.

By the latest action, meaning an increase of 66 2-3 per cent, the revenue in the new tax bill was boosted about $243,000,000 to approximately $2,250,000,000—80 per cent short of the administration request for $10,500,000,000.

The committee expects to report the bill to the house later this week.

Representative Celler, Democrat, New York, served notice that the liquor tax would run into a battle on the house floor, declaring such a levy would mean "the return of bootlegging, hi-jacking, bathtub gin and strawberry-flavored hair tonic."

A ways and means member said the committee, in its new action, apparently took the position that all the dwindling liquor supplies would be consumed regardless of the size of the tax.

The committee made no other changes in the previously hiked excises on socalled luxuries.

There were indications, however, that the higher postal rates might be revised further. Members reported they were receiving numerous protests against various postal increases.

Drugs Of Great Value

By H. C. NAYLOR, Pres. Lane Drug Stores, Inc.

Much has been written and published about sulfanilamide, sulfapyridine, sulfathiazole and sulfadiazine, yet the subject of their administration has been given but scant publicity in comparison with the amount of newspaper and magazine space devoted to their origin and uses.

Just as a flame of fire is both beneficial and destructive so are sulfanilamide and its derivatives.

It is imperative that there be daily supervision by a physician of a person taking any of these drugs. Otherwise untoward effects are probabilities rather than possibilities, and that which should prove beneficial becomes dangerous to human life. Because of such dangers it is unlawful in many states for a druggist to dispense sulfanilamide, sulfapyridine, sulfathiazole or sulfadiazine, except when prescribed by a qualified physician.

If you have heard or read of these marvels of medicine and believe that you have an ailment that might be cured through their use, go straight to your doctor and let him give you the examination necessary to determine if such is the case, but do not ask a druggist to sell you any of them, for he will have to refuse to do so. ## Atlanta Flyer Downs 2 Zeros

Continuing his effort to make the Japanese regret the stab in the back they handed Uncle Sam at Pearl Harbor, Captain James R. Dyer, nephew of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Levans, of 812 Adair avenue, has been credited with two more Zero planes shot down and another probable while in action over the Russell islands, where his Marine fighter unit is based.

The unit is credited with knocking down a total of 28 planes and 14 probables in a recently completed tour of duty in that area of the war and Captain Dyer, about two months ago, was given credit for shooting down two of the Nips.

Another Georgian with victory on his ledger of activity with the same unit is Lieutenant John P. Golden III, of Columbus.

Delayed information on the unit's activities came from Sergeant Ralph A. Peck, Marine Combat correspondent, and was distributed by the Associated Press.

The squadron, under the command of Major Richard M. Baker, of Salem, Ore., with two Jap Zeros to his credit, was one of the first to operate from Munda, captured Japanese airbase.

Major Baker received credit for the first enemy plane shot down from the former Japanese base. The squadron, during its tour, took part in several successful aerial raids and strafing missions against Japanese shipping and landing forces in the Vella-Lavella area.

On one occasion a flight led by Captain John C. Dustin, of Bellevue, Neb., completely demolished six Japanese supply barges loaded with explosives and gasoline at Vella-Lavella.

Captain Dyer made his home with his uncle and aunt for some time. He was raised in Atlanta and was attending the University of Georgia when he entered the service in September, 1941.

Forest Fire Flares Anew

SANTA MONICA, Cal., Nov. 8, (AP)—The Santa Monica mountains fire—largest and most destructive of a half-dozen major blazes raging in southern California—flared anew on two sectors today, threatening 300 additional homes and a county prison camp.

An estimate that the flames already had destroyed nearly 150 houses, from cabins to mansions, was made by Deputy Sheriff Clem Peoples, who added damage might exceed $1,000,000.

The latest wind-driven outbreaks threatened houses in the thickly populated Fernwood district of Topanga canyon and the prisoners' camp 20 miles farther west in Ramera canyon. The fire had destroyed trees and brush in a 12 by 20-mile L-shaped area.

Still uncontrolled after consuming 6,000 acres was another timber and brush fire in the San Jacinto mountains of Riverside county, and in San Diego county four major fires spread over an area of more than 40,000 acres.

Harold Nathan, San Diego FBI chief, said "one of the fires may have been of incendiary origin," but at Sacramento State Forester M. B. Pratt declared there was no evidence of sabotage in the southern California fires.

Sharp Cut Seen In Steel Output

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—(AP)—Steel output will drop sharply this week as a result of strikes in the soft coal mines, the American Iron and Steel Institute reported today in estimating mill operations for the period at 98.2 per cent of capacity against 100 per cent last week.

At 98.2 per cent the Institute calculated the week's output at 1,711,600 tons of steel, compared with 1,743,000 the previous week.

For several weeks the steel industry has been operating at peak levels in plant operations and tonnages. A month ago the mills averaged 100.2 per cent with an outturn of 1,781,300 tons. A year ago the rate was 99.6 per cent and production 1,703,808 tons.

Steel circles said it was expected the industry would show some pickup next week as a result of the agreement reached in the coal wage dispute.

Alabama Mines Near Normal

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Nov. 8.—(AP)—Coal mines employing more than 20,000 of Alabama's union miners resumed operations today with near-normal crews.

An operator spokesman said a complete survey of the fields showed only five mines, employing approximately 1,200, continued idle. He added that the United Mine Workers' local union at one of these mines, the Debardeleben Coal Corporation's Hull, voted this afternoon to return to work tomorrow.

Governor-Elect Edge To Visit Georgia Farm

Six Georgians Are Casualties

Five Georgians were reported missing, and one as wounded in the European and Asiatic areas, according to an Associated Press release.

Staff Sergeant William C. Pickett Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Pickett, of Gainesville, Ga., is reported missing over Germany, the family has been notified. He was a gunner on a Flying Fortress.

Staff Sergeant Charles E. Vickers, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Vickers, of Flowery Branch, Ga., is reported missing in action in the Asiatic area, the family was officially notified.

John Wilburn Burden, son of Mrs. Ramie Vistula Burden, of Elberton, Ga., is listed as missing by the Navy Department.

Listed as missing in the European area are Lieutenant David R. Boswell, son of Mrs. Eulalie C. Boswell, of 783 Ashby street, S. W., and Lieutenant Richard F. Walker, son of Raymond C. Walker, of Albany, Ga.

Listed as wounded in the Mediterranean area is Lieutenant John B. Tison, son of Southwood S. Tison, of Savannah, Ga.

Italian Army Officers Ready To Lead Patriots

ON THE SWISS-ITALIAN FRONTIER, Nov. 8.—(AP)—Marshal Pietro Caviglia, Italian hero of the first World War and noted leftist who never embraced Fascism, has taken to the hills and is ready to lead Italian Partisans in a fight for freedom, informants from German-occupied Italy said today.

This information was the first word about Caviglia since the Germans occupied Rome and the Fascists issued a surprising announcement that the marshal had placed himself at the disposal of the German command and the Mussolini puppet government.

Frontier informants said that Caviglia as well as General Alessandro Pirzio-Biroli, veteran of the Italian Ethiopian and Albanian campaigns, have no intention of participating in Mussolini's Fascist government; on the contrary, they are hiding and will fight with Italian Partisans against the Germans.

Finnish Political Party Hopes for Early Peace

STOCKHOLM, Nov. 8.—(AP)—The Social Democrats, dominant political party of Finland, expressed hope today that "peace shall come as quickly as possible" but added:

Woman Slated For Sutton Job

Miss Ira Jarrell, principal of W. F. Slaton elementary school on Grant street, is expected to be elected superintendent of the Atlanta school system as successor to Dr. Willis A. Sutton, at a meeting of the board of education today.

Members of the board would not comment yesterday, but it was said that five of the six members will vote for Miss Jarrell. The sixth is said to be for Stanley Hastings, principal of O'Keefe Junior High school.

As principal of Slaton school, Miss Jarrell now receives approximately $3,500. The superintendency pays $7,500. Should Miss Jarrell, who resides at 619 Cascade avenue, S. W., be elected, she will not be the first woman to be superintendent of Atlanta's schools.

Previous Woman Chief.

Before the election of Dr. Sutton, who resigned Monday a week ago after 22 years' service in the position, Miss Laura Smith was elected superintendent, but served only a short time. Miss Mary W. Postell served as assistant superintendent, in charge of elementary schools, from 1922 to 1931.

After graduation from the Atlanta Normal school, Miss Jarrell joined the Atlanta system as a teacher in the Crew Street school, where she remained until 1926, when she went to the McLendon school. She taught there through 1932. She next became senior teacher at Sylvan Hills school and later became principal of that school, remaining in that position until she became principal of Slaton school in 1936.

Miss Jarrell's Activities.

Miss Jarrell has been prominent in the local labor movement and has served several times as a vice president of the Atlanta Federation of Trades. She is serving her eighth term as president of the Atlanta Public School Teachers' Association. She is a trustee of the Atlanta Community Chest Fund and a member of the Park Avenue Baptist church.

Before entering normal school, Miss Jarrell was graduated from Girls' High school. She received her A. B. and M. A. degrees from Oglethorpe University.

Dr. Sutton's resignation becomes effective on January 1, but he will remain in the system making his final report for two months longer, before taking up his duties as secretary of the Georgia Education Association.

P.T. Groups' Resolution.

His resignation was deplored in a resolution sent to the board of education by the Atlanta Council of Parent-Teacher Associations asking it to reconsider its acceptance of the resignation.

"Atlanta children can ill afford to lose the services of one of the outstanding educators of the nation at this critical period," the resolution said.

Civic Classes To Study Atlanta 'Needs' Survey

A survey of the greatest needs of Atlanta and Georgia, as compiled from the opinions of representative citizens by the Chamber of Commerce, will be studied by civic classes in the city school system, Dr. H. Reid Hunter, assistant superintendent of schools, has announced.

"We think pupils should know as much as possible about the problems of our city and state," he said.

Rail Workers Reject Vinson-Okay Offer

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—(AP)—A new proposal for settling the wage demands of 1,100,000 of the nation's railway employes was quickly turned down today by spokesmen for the workers, adding fresh fuel to disputes that threaten to paralyze rail transportation.

A special presidential board, the second charged with tackling the year-long controversy, recommended a 4-to-10-cent an hour increase for the nonoperating employes, such as clerks, maintenance of way laborers, machinists and others who do not operate trains.

The recommendation, approved by Economic Stabilization Director Fred M. Vinson, promptly was labeled "entirely unsatisfactory" by B. M. Jewell, chairman of the rail employes' wage conference committee, and as "unacceptable" by George M. Harrison, president of the Brotherhood of Railway Clerks.

The 15 unions embracing the non-operating employes as well as unions representing the 300,000 operating workers — enginemen, firemen, switchmen—already are conducting strike votes in protest against the government's wage awards.

Stalemate.

A previous presidential board had recommended an eight cents an hour increase for the non-operating groups, but Vinson refused to approve it. Another board had awarded a four-cent an hour increase to the operating groups, but this was rejected by the workers.

In accepting the latest recommendation on the non-operating employes' wages today, Vinson offered to approve an upward adjustment in some brackets in the increase for the operating workers.

As the rail dispute headed toward a crisis, these were other developments on the labor front:

The majority of the nation's miners, tapering off their fourth general walkout in six months, went back to the pits and restoration of normal operations Tuesday or Wednesday was generally expected.

Miners Ask Clarification.

Those lagging behind in the back-to-work march apparently were holding out for clarification of the terms of a new contract which increased the miners' earnings $1.50 a day but added an hour to their daily working time.

A report that labor groups are dissatisfied with the "Little Steel Formula," limiting wage increases to 15 per cent of the January, 1941, level, was relayed to President Roosevelt by Sidney Hillman, head of the CIO Amalgamated Clothing Workers. Most of the dissatisfaction, Hillman told reporters upon leaving the White House, stems from the feeling that congress has failed to provide strict controls over prices to offset the stabilization of wages.

Steel Workers' Demand.

The executive board of the CIO United Steel Workers, the first to benefit under the "Little Steel Formula," decided in Philadelphia to call for reopening of its wage contracts in an attempt to obtain increases exceeding the formula's ceilings. This was interpreted as only the opening move by all CIO unions to win increases.

The eight-cent increase, it has been estimated, would add about $204,000,000 annually to railroad pay rolls and the new proposal would cost at least as much. Under it. the increases would be effective November 19 and would be retroactive to February 1.

tained at the highest possible level. He believes teachers are under paid at present, he said.

Rich was careful to state he offered his opinions without having in mind any person to assume the post of superintendent of the new school set-up, and only as a citizen who held the best interest of Atlanta at heart.

"I am not at this time sufficiently informed on these matters to be willing to advocate a unified city and county school system. But I do advocate most heartily a study of the proposition.

More Efficiency.

"In such a merger there is a possibility of substantial savings to the taxpayers, coupled with more efficient operation of the schools.

"We should make a thorough study of this proposition to determine its feasibility. And the time to begin such a study is the present."

E. S. Papy, well-known civic worker, said:

"I read the editorial in The Constitution and on the whole I favor the general proposition.

"I don't know enough about the proposition to advocate at this time a merger of the city and county school systems. But by all means the matter should be studied and its possibilities investigated.

Plan for Future.

"From the point of view of future developments, I think it wise to begin to do some planning now for the future. I favor anything that will better our school system, and if a unified system would do it then I naturally favor that. But before we come to any decision on a matter so important as this we should, by all means, make a close study of it.

"That, as I understood it, is exactly what the editorial The Constitution advocates and in that sense I am heartily for it."

Dr. Cullen B. Gosnell, head of the department of political science at Emory University, said:

"I believe that the unification of the city and county school systems would be a good move. I am in hearty agreement with the editorial in The Constitution this morning.

Now Is Opportune Time.

"I believe, further, that now is the opportune time to effect such a unification. There are factors at work now which may bring about a degree of success impossible a year or two ago.

"Of course a unification of the two school systems is the only way to bring about an efficient educational plan for both county and city. It would effect great economies and would, I believe, tend to raise the educational standards of the county up to those of the city.

"Unification is the ultimate solution to this problem. That being true, I think we should effect it now rather than later."

Miss Christine Smith, of the Atlanta League of Women Voters, said:

Make Study of Plan.

"It is a very good idea for citizens of Atlanta and Fulton county to make a study of the different school systems. I know of no one who opposes the plan outlined in The Constitution, and I feel confident that something good can come from such a study."

Robert W. Schilling, president of the Atlanta Junior Chamber of Commerce, said:

"Naturally I am all in favor of a strong, unified and efficient educational system just as I favor a unification of both county and city governments.

"Personally I believe these two movements should go along together—that is, that the unification of the city and the county school systems should run parallel with the unification of the county and city governmental agencies.

What the People Want.

"In that way, and in my opinion only in that way, can we get a strong educational system. That, of course, is what we all want and it is a great pity that politics and political considerations interfere so greatly with achieving these most desirable ends.

"I believe that we can effect a merger of the city and the county school systems without causing anybody to lose their jobs. In others words, we should agree in the beginning to provide jobs for everybody now employed by the two school systems. That will make it much easier to put the plan across.

"The proposed merger of the two systems ought to give us better and more adequate facilities. By all means let us a have a unified system."

Dr. Glenn Rainey, professor in the English department of the Georgia School of Technology, said:

Rainey in Favor.

"I am very much in favor of this proposition. From every point of view, I consider it highly desirable.

"The problems that stand in the way of a unified city and county school system are largely factional problems. But there is not a single one of these problems that cannot be ironed out if approached in the proper spirit.

"Of course there are many details that would have to be carefully worked out. But they too would yield to the right kind of approach.

"The economics of such a plan are so clear that it is difficult how anyone could long oppose it. They are economies not only of administration, but also economies in the matter of the children who go to school.

"Beneficial in Every Way."

"Such a unified system would be beneficial in every way. I heartily favor the suggestions in The Constitution editorial."

Alvin Richards, lawyer, former member of the city council, said:

"I think it is fine. When I was in the council I sponsored two measures for merging Atlanta and Fulton county, but of course I couldn't get anywhere with it. When you begin merging, then you legislate someone out of a job. But I thing serious consideration should be given to our schools in any postwar plan."

Education Major Problem.

James W. Wilson, salesman, said:

"We have many postwar problems: education is the major one. There is no time better than the present for us to begin planning out postwar educational programs. Merging the two educational systems is something I had not considered. However, it is a matter affecting everyone, and we should study it."

time of Sir Harry's death at between 1:30 and 3:30 a. m. July 8, and the handsome de Visdelou recalled under oath that he talked to de Marigny in the cottage they shared at 1:30 a. m., and at about 3:15 was asked by the latter to put out his cat.

But Special Prosecutor A. F. Adderley suddenly opened up a signed statement de Visdelou had given to police July 11, and read this excerpt:

"I actually did not see de Marigny from midnight until the following morning."

"I am French and very emotional," said de Visdelou in explanation. "I was very nervous then."

All Pages Signed.

Adderley, pointing out that every page was signed by de Visdelou, read another passage:

"While at Westbourne July 10 De Marigny reminded me he had called to me about the cat. I didn't recollect this until he reminded me. I don't remember whether De Marigny called me from the bedroom or not. There was something about a cat."

Chief Justice Sir Oscar Bedford Daly grew impatient when De Visdelou swore that his police statement about his early life was correct.

"How can you go through all that about Paris and London," he demanded, "but become vague on happenings only a couple of days old?"

"I now give you an opportunity to explain how your memory became vague on the happenings of July 8."

"I cannot explain, your honor," said the flustered witness.

Defense Comes to Aid.

Chief Defense Attorney Godfrey Higgs came to his aid by reading a paragraph from the police statement which Adderley had not quoted:

"About 1:30 De Marigny came upstairs and asked if he could take my girl friend home."

"Did you say that?" the chief justice asked.

"Yes, I said that," came the reply.

Higgs interposed a question: "The only statement you don't recollect is that of the cat?"

"Yes, about the cat," said De Visdelou.

Next on the witness stand, Captain Maurice B. O'Neil, of the New Orleans police, declared:

"I can say positively exhibit J did not come from that screen."

Thus he took issue squarely with Captain James O. Barker, of the Miami police, who testified that the fingerprint in evidence—exhibit J—was lifted from the bedscreen.

Barker said the bedscreen stood in the deathroom.

Defeatism Highlights Hitler Harangue

. . . The fight for Germany has made me what I am."

The entire speech, his first to the German nation since the fall of Italy, carried an obviously defensive note—an apparent effort to answer reports of unrest in the Reich, reports which have been coming from neutral capitals with growing frequency.

Hitler averred that only the Nazi party was holding the German nation together, and demanded that party members "must bring to reason the unworthy and, if necessary, destroy him, because there is one thing which is beyond doubt and that is that this is a war without pity."

In a sarcasm-dripping reference to the recent Moscow tripower parley of the United States, Britain and Russia, Hitler said:

"They set up committees to study the shape of the world after the war. They would do better to think out how to shape their own world at present."

He reiterated his old charge that Britain was the prime mover in the war, and invoked the Bolshevist bogey, saying "whatever sacrifices we have to bear now, they are not to be compared with what we would have to bear if we lost this war."

Hitler said of the fighting in Italy that "the storm to Brenner (Brenner Pass in northern Italy next to southern Germany) has become a snail offensive far to the south of Rome. (The Allies are reported less than 75 miles south of Rome.) It will have to pay its toll of blood—and that is according to our plans."

He declared that "every new landing in Italy will force the Allies to employ additional tonnage and split up their forces and wherever a landing occurs it will meet with German resistance."

Hitler said he was happy that his friend, Benito Mussolini, had been "rescued" from Allied hands, declaring that Mussolini "had done everything to make his people great, strong and happy and, in addition, let them participate in the big decision."

"The Italian collapse," he went on, "cannot be without repercussions on war developments. But the hopes of our opponents are in vain. Nothing of what they expected has happened, nor will it happen."

Scouts Victory Talk.

Promising vengeance against Britain, Hitler declared that "whether our enemies believe it or not, our day of vengeance will come and, since we cannot reach America, there is a state very near us which will pay dearly."

He said, "Germany's enemies have become modest, and what today they are claiming as victories they originally snubbed as operations of no importance."

The fighting in the east, Hitler said, was the most severe the Germans have faced.

"Here, however," he added, "the enemy's last aim to force the collapse of the German front will not be reached. The last battle will bring the decision and it will be won by the people with the greatest persistency."

On the subject of home executions, Hitler said, "There are indeed a few individuals also in Germany who may believe in the enemy's victory, but when thousands are falling at the front, no one would hesitate to hand a few hundred such criminals over to death."

Of the Allied bombings of Germany, he declared "What the German home front is standing through, we fully realize. You can imagine how I feel about this personally."

He said he was especially grieved over the sacrifices brought upon women and children and added that, compared to this, "far less important are the damages which German industry is suffering because, despite all this, armament production is steadily increasing. I am not moved so much by damages to German cities because these cities we shall rebuild in a short time more beautiful than they ever were before.

"A people which put 6,000,000 cubic meters of concrete into construction of fortifications is able to rebuild cities rapidly."

He said that in less than three years all "dwelling houses" hit by Allied bombs would be rebuilt.

While "the Americans and English are now planning the reconstruction of the world," Hitler said, "I plan the reconstruction of Germany. But while their reconstruction will not take place, ours will be carried through precisely according to plan. Those hundreds of thousands of bombed-out people are the vanguard of revenge when retaliation comes."

Reuters said Hitler's speech was delivered in his customary table-pounding, screaming brand of oratory; that Hitler raced through his script at top speed; and that the applause was especially lively when he promised "retaliation."

Delving into Italian political events, Hitler said "the treachery of the King of Italy, the crown prince and their clique brought about a situation which looked definitely ugly. Already our enemies were rejoicing at the idea of having my friend, Mussolini, extradited. In spite of everything, we were able to re-establish the situation and in fact it proved afterwards better than before. We accomplished the seemingly impossible."

Lashing out at Britain, Hitler accused the British of being the "personification of aggression in unholy compact with the Jews."

He said the present struggle could not end the way the last World War did, declaring the Germany "of today is a different state from that of 1914-18."

Flays Old Reich.

He said that struggle had become "a staggering and historically unique affair. The ridiculous thing is that it is just the quarrels of small nations which are at stake."

"Looking back to 1914," Hitler said, "we find Jewry penetrating through countless breaches into state and political life, and especially into the socalled ruling society. Economic life became its special sphere.

"The Reich of those years aimed only at maintaining world peace. Although the Reich of that time had 30,000,000 more inhabitants than France, it actually had a numerically inferior army. That is the best answer to the subsequent charge that the Reich threatened the peace."

He said that Germany's final collapse "was due less to force of arms than to destructive propaganda. An American President deluded the German people with his 14 points. The people were too simple. They took democratic assurances seriously.

Discusses Russia.

Turning to Russia, he said "some think it might have been possible by swearing to give up all armaments to tame the Bolshevist giant. . . . Maybe somebody believes Finland intended to attack Russia or that Estonia, Latvia and Lithuania wished to conquer the virgin forests of Russia.

"Or perhaps they wished to conquer the Caucasus and the oil wells of Baku.

"On the contrary, it was Russia who coveted the mouth of the Danube and the oil of Rumania and in fact Russia wished to possess the whole of the Balkans.

"Only one state succeeded in calling a halt to the storm threatening from the east and that state was Germany. Only children, madmen or cowards would think of trying to defeat Russia by kindness."

"...A-way down South in Dixie"

THERE'S a new tune in the air in our Southland these days. And it's sweet music to the ears of America's fighting men.

You hear it in the vibrant roar of great Southern mills and factories . . .

You hear it in the ceaseless clatter of Southern shipyards . . .

You hear it in the busy hum that rises from Southern farms and forests and mines . . .

And you hear it in the deep voice of powerful Southern Railway locomotives and in the endless rumble of the Southern's freight trains.

It's the song of the South today . . . the hustling, wartime Southland, served by the Southern Railway System and dedicated, above all else, to speeding the day of final Victory.

And after the war is won, this great and growing Southland will turn to the rich, rewarding tasks of Peace.

Then, new and better products will come from modern Southern industries.

Then, new wonders will spring from Southern research laboratories.

Then, Southern forests and farmlands, mills and mines, will bustle with peacetime activity.

Then, the men and women of the Southern Railway System will make good use of the lessons they're learning under the pressures of war . . . to speed the peacetime commerce of the Greater South to an eager world . . . from "A-way down South in Dixie."

Boy Seriously Injured by Car

Jerry Davis Henderson, 4, son of Mr. and Mrs. Davis Henderson, of 517 Jefferson street, College Park, was admitted to Grady hospital late yesterday suffering from serious injuries as result of an automobile accident.

Hospital records said the child was struck by an automobile as he played in College Park and that he suffered a severe scalp wound and three fractures in the right leg. His condition was noted as "poor" at the hospital.

College Park police said they have the case under investigation, but did not release the name of the automobile driver.

Burglars Tunnel Way to $2,500—Overlook $1,300

Burglars who tunneled under a service station at 345 Courtland street, N. E., operated by J. B. King, yesterday were $2,500 richer as a result of their effort, police reports revealed.

After tunneling under the station, the burglars cracked the safe, taking the packet of money. Another compartment of the safe, which contained $1,300 in cash, was overlooked, police said.

Atlanta Rabbi Member Of Rabbinic Authority

Sam Eplan, of Atlanta, has been elected an officer of the Southeastern Synagogue Conference which held its initial session in Nashville, Tenn., Sunday, and a rabbinic authority has been established with Rabbi Harry Epstein, of Atlanta, and rabbis of other southern cities.

With 10 congregations from six cities represented, the session formed a permanent organization for exchange of ideas and thoughts and to discuss problems confronting Jewish people in educational and cultural fields.

Local Penicillin Supply in Use

Authorities in charge of penicillin at Grady hospital last night explained all the available supply is in use and further allocations of the drug could not be made at this time.

The statement followed an Associated Press report from Jacksonville, Fla., that the drug had been refused by Atlanta doctors to Lieutenant Milton C. Dunning, who is at the Lake City (Fla.) Veterans' hospital suffering from streptococcus infection.

Stating the drug was "the only thing that might save Lieutenant Dunning from death," Lake City hospital attendants last night started a wide search for penicillin after efforts to obtain it from Atlanta fell through. Appeals have been made to drug supply houses and hospitals as far north as Boston.

Lieutenant Dunning, who served in the Navy during World War I, was attached to an Army military police unit at Camp Butler, N. C., when he was injured in an automobile accident about eight months ago. Infection later set in.

Mariettans Air War Problems

The Constitution's Marietta News Bureau

MARIETTA, Ga., Nov. 8.—Wartime problems, arising as Marietta's population has more than doubled since 1940, were discussed last night in a meeting of city council, presided over by Mayor Rip Blair.

Among other discussions were the need of telephone service in war housing projects, serving many persons who are employed at the Bell bomber plant. In one instance, cited to the council, it was revealed 400 persons do not have access to a telephone and in another area, the only telephone was reported located in the office of the manager of the housing project. Persons needing the services of a doctor at night have difficulty in reaching one, council was told.

Council also gave its attention to the possibility of asking retail stores to remain open at least one evening in the week to meet shopping needs of persons employed at the bomber plant on daytime jobs and unable to do shopping during the usual hours.

Council also voiced opinion that a public hospital is needed in Marietta and looked into the matter of obtaining Federal Works Administration funds for the construction of such an institution to house 60 to 100 patients.

Benes To Go to Moscow Shortly To Sign Pact

MOSCOW, Nov. 8.—(AP)—President Edouard Benes of the Czechoslovakian government in exile is expected to arrive in Moscow in the near future to sign a Soviet-Czechoslovakian mutual assistance pact along the same lines as the British-American-Russian agreement, which calls for 20 years of collaboration during the war and postwar periods.

Obstacles barring the conclusion of the pact were smoothed away during the recent three-power conferences in Moscow, the magazine "War and the Working Class" declared. In an editorial commenting upon the conference the magazine added:

"Concerning the Soviet Union and its relationships with other European governments a definite step forward can be observed."

It's really no feat at all to make wonderful Whiskey Sours—IF you use Calvert Reserve. For this whiskey's magnificent "soft" flavor has an exceedingly clever knack of blending with—rather than overpowering—the other ingredients in mixed drinks. Remember, too, that every drop of this whiskey is now being parceled out of precious, limited,* irreplaceable stocks—so, even more so than before, Calvert Reserve is "the choicest whiskey you can drink or serve"!

Circus Plans Monkey Shines—But Loses Monkey!

Pedestrians and motorists along Decatur street all the way from Five Points to the Washington street viaduct rubbed their eyes and wondered what goes on.

They were justified in puzzling over the situation, for last night they saw a large monkey scampering about, apparently enjoying itself in causing such an uproar.

The monkey, named "Johnny," belonged to Jailer A. B. (Bud) Foster, of the county jail, and escaped as Foster, with other Shriners, staged a brief show at Five Points advertising a Shrine circus planned here.

Foster, aided by other attaches at the jail, immediately started efforts to recapture the pet and succeeded several hours later.

Three Slated for Trial On Charge of Murder

A 14-year old boy and a girl of 18 are scheduled to go on trial today in Fulton superior court charged with the murder of J. T. McCall, elderly Whitehall street cafe owner, last August 3. Accused with them is Joe Keller Moss, 27.

In the event defense attorneys ask for severance of the defendants, it is expected that Moss will go on trial first. Judge Paul S. Etheridge will preside.

McCall was shot to death in the metal shack in which he lived in the rear of his cafe.

When Fred comes home!...

Happy day! Glorious tomorrow, when the war at last will be won!...

It will be a glorious day in our town all right ...an event to be remembered—forever!! They'll all be out—the whole neighborhood crowd—Gene and Vic and Buddy and George! And Fred—home again at last—and Junior!

Perhaps this will be Junior's day, more than anyone else's...because he will have a father again...For Junior was just in rompers when Fred left—knew his dad only from photographs. Thousands of miles of war-torn land and water kept them apart...the far-flung fronts where Fred was in the thick of the fight...so that Junior and all the other Juniors might live in a Brighter World...a World of Freedom.

But Today, that fight of Fred's is not yet won! Already he has gone a long way—but he still has far to go to reach that final objective—a long, slow, dangerous way! A way made easier of course, by the products of Science and Industry. But he must still have the fighting spirit of every American behind him...100%.

We of the Seaboard are behind him wholeheartedly...every train of our mighty fleet is full speed ahead transporting the men and needs of Victory...for the fulfillment of a world of justice and happiness, and that glorious day when Fred comes home.

'Newspaper Axis' Is Accused by Ickes

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—(AP)—Secretary of Interior Ickes, calling on Americans to realize that Russians will be powerful in peace as they are mighty in war, accused "the Hearst Press and the Patterson-McCormick Newspaper Axis" tonight of "deliberately fostering ill will" between Allies.

The cabinet member, speaking at Madison Square Garden exercises celebrating the 10th anniversary of United States' relations with Russia, praised the Soviets for their triumphs over Hitlerism, pictured a great future for them, exulted over the Moscow unity pact and tore into those American newspapers he called "vendors of venom."

"It is of the utmost importance for our two nations to understand each other," Ickes said.

Russia intends to repay her obligations to the United States in full, Donald M. Nelson, War Production Board chairman, declared.

"Will Be Repaid."

Quoting Marshal Joseph Stalin directly, Nelson said the Russian leader had told him without qualification that "any obligation undertaken by this government (Russia) will be repaid in full, and not by token payments."

Nelson, who returned last week from a three-week survey of Russian industry, was emphatic in his prediction of long and lasting friendship between Russia and the United States.

(Most of what the United States has done for Russia has been in the form of lend-lease shipments, which now total over $2,500,000,000.

"There are those who rate Premier Stalin and President Roosevelt so bitterly that they would rather see Hitler win the war, if the alternative is his defeat by a leadership shared in by the great Russian and the great American.

"Need I name names? Let me simply mention, as example, the Hearst press and the Patterson-McCormick newspaper Axis, particularly the latter."

Colonel Robert R. McCormick, publisher of the Chicago Tribune, in a statement made in New York in answer to Secretary Ickes, speech, said:

"Ickes, in Chicago, was a small bucket shop operator, who as a Republican did dirty work for Democratic Boss Brennan. He was taken into the administration to do its dirtiest work, which he did consistently, and as a reward has been allowed to carry on petty graft in his department.

Charges Nomination "Steal."

"I wouldn't reply to this man with a fouler tongue than Winchell's except that it gives me the opportunity to point out that the only hope that the people who want to overthrow our republic have is to steal the Republican nomination for President in 1944 as it was stolen in 1940."

The sharp-tongued Ickes, who has swapped bitter words previously with publishers critical of the administration, went even stronger tonight, saying:

"It may be a consolation of a dry sort to our Russian and British friends to be told that if these newspaper publishers hate Russia and Great Britain, their hate of their own country is more than libertine.

"For, despite anything that one might say to the contrary, the fact is that they must hate their own country and despise its institutions if, deliberately, they pursue an intention to stir up hate for the two nations whose help we must have if we are to defeat Hitler."

Charges Falsifying.

Ickes assigned to these publishers "one quality . . . in common with Hitler that probably ennobles him in their eyes." This, he said, is "congenital and total" disregard for the truth.

As a liar, the secretary continued, Hitler has never been equaled, "but that does not mean that he has not had rivals."

"No reader of any of the newspapers controlled by these four purveyors of applesauce, unless he were naive indeed, would require proof of the charge that the newspapers referred to, particularly those within the New York-Washington - Chicago axis, have no greater scruple about deliberately saying what is not true, no more hesitate to misrepresent, than Hitler himself."

"I came away convinced," Donald Nelson said in his address, "that there will be found no two peoples anywhere in the world better qualified to win each other's respect and admiration and friendship than the Russians and the Americans."

"I have gained a sense of the warm human feeling which underlies the wonderful achievement of Mr. Hull (Cordell Hull, secretary of state) and his associates" in the signing of the Moscow unity pact, Nelson continued.

"To my way of thinking, the pact which Mr. Hull signed is far more than an important agreement between great powers. It is an expression of the rooted desire of the people of America and Russia and England and China to come closer together, to seek better ways of understanding each other and a better means of expressing their common interests."

Invitation by M. P. Callaway, as Trustee of the Property of Central of Georgia Railway Company, for Bids on $1,301,400.00 of Notes Secured by Conditional Sale or Lease Contracts Covering the Purchase of 350 Composite Type Box Cars; 165 Pulpwood Cars and 4 Diesel Switching Engines.

Savannah, Georgia, November 1, 1943.

The undersigned as Trustee of the property of Central of Georgia Railway Company, proposes to enter into a contract or contracts with each of the following Manufacturers in the amount and for the equipment set opposite each Manufacturer's name:

| Manufacturer, | Equipment, | Purchase Price: |
|---|---|---|
| American Car and Foundry Company, | 100 Composite Type Box Cars, | $365,000; |
| Greenville Steel Car Company, | 165 Pulpwood Cars, | $577,500; |
| The Baldwin Locomotive Works, | One 1000-HP. Diesel Switch Engine, | $78,500; |
| total | | $2,169,000. |

The undersigned will pay in cash 40% of the cost of each Diesel switch engine as and when the same is accepted by the undersigned, and will pay the balance of the purchase price of each of said engines in 6 equal semi-annual installments; the first of said semi-annual installments being due six months from the date of acceptance; deferred installments of purchase price to draw interest from date of acceptance at the rate of two per cent per annum, payable semi-annually.

The undersigned will pay in cash 40% of the cost of each pulpwood flat car and composite box car, as and when the same is accepted by the undersigned, and will pay the balance of the purchase price of said cars in 6 equal semi-annual installments; the first of said semi-annual installments being due six months from the acceptance of the last of said cars covered by each contract; deferred installments of purchase price to draw interest from date of acceptance of the last car covered by each contract at the rate of two per cent per annum, payable semi-annually.

The said deferred semi-annual installments will be represented by promissory notes bearing, in case of the Diesel engines, the date of the acceptance of each engine; and in the case of the pulpwood flat cars, the date of the acceptance of the last of said cars; and in case of the composite type box cars, the date of the acceptance of the last of said cars covered by each contract, and shall be payable at semi-annual intervals with interest from date to maturity, payable semi-annually at the rate of 2% per annum. After maturity said notes shall bear interest at the rate of 6% per annum.

Said deferred payments of purchase price, together with interest thereon as hereinbefore stated, will be secured by the proposed conditional sale or lease contracts to be entered into between the undersigned and said Manufacturers.

The Manufacturers will assign said contracts and notes to a purchaser, to be obtained by the Trustee, the assignments to be without recourse on said Manufacturers, provided, however, that no such assignment shall subject any assignee to or relieve any of said Manufacturers or their successors to their property or business from the warranties contained in the contract and specifications for the manufacture of said equipment. If the notes and contracts should be sold at a discount the undersigned will make good to the Manufacturers the difference, and if the contracts and notes are sold at a premium, the premium will belong to the undersigned.

There is a covenant in each of said conditional contracts or leases to the effect that, upon the termination of the Trusteeship of Central of Georgia Railway Company, the reorganized corporation or any corporation which succeeds to seventy-five (75%) per cent or more of the owned lines of the Railway Company at the termination of the Trusteeship, may be substituted for and in the place of the Trustee and, upon such corporation agreeing to be so substituted and assuming all of the obligations and covenants of the Trustee under said conditional sale contracts or leases, the Trustee shall stand discharged therefrom.

Bids are invited for said issue of $1,301,400.00 of notes and the conditional sale or lease contracts securing them as hereinbefore set forth, which bids will be received up to 12:00 o'clock noon, November 17, 1943, at the office of the undersigned, 233 West Broad Street, Savannah, Georgia.

Bids will be accepted only on all of said contracts as a whole, but the successful bidder will be required to make payments on account of his bid as contemplated and provided by the contracts with each Manufacturer.

Bids are to be submitted in conformity with the Clayton Anti-Trust Act and regulations of the Interstate Commerce Commission made pursuant to said Act.

Bids shall be addressed to the Trustee and enclosed in a plain envelope, securely sealed, bearing no indication of the name of the bidder or the amounts of the bid, and shall be marked on the outside of the envelope "Bid Under Proposed Contract No. 3."

No bid shall be received unless it shall state the name and addresses of the bidder and, if the bidder be a corporation, the names and addresses of the officers, directors and general manager thereof and of the purchasing or selling officer or agent and, if the bidder is a firm, partnership or association, the bid shall give the names and addresses of each member thereof, and of the manager, purchasing or selling officer or agent.

Bids will be opened immediately after noon November 17, 1943, by said Trustee or J. D. McCartney, Assistant to the Trustee.

Trustee reserves the right to reject any and all bids.

The acceptance of any bid is subject to the Interstate Commerce Commission's approval of the issue of said notes and the sale of the said contracts and notes.

The United States District Court has authorized the contracts subject to the approval of the Interstate Commerce Commission as above stated.

In the event all of said equipment is not delivered to the undersigned in accordance with the contracts hereinbefore mentioned the bid of the successful bidder will be reduced proportionately to cover the equipment delivered.

The cost of this equipment is the maximum estimated cost, which is subject to small adjustments, and if it becomes unnecessary to issue all of said notes, the bid of the successful bidder will be reduced proportionately to cover the actual amount of notes issued and secured by said conditional sale or lease contracts.

Copies of the form of the proposed conditional sale or lease contracts and the notes issued thereunder and secured thereby, and any other information in respect thereto, will be furnished to any person desiring to bid, on application to the office of the Trustee in Savannah, Georgia. M. P. CALLAWAY,

LATE HUSBAND ACCUSED HER—Mrs. John Worthington (above) was quoted by Deputy Attorney General Daniel J. Layton Jr., at Rehoboth Beach, Dela., as telling him that her late husband, a warrant officer, had accused her of intimacies with Warrant Officer Carl Moulinie. Layton said that Moulinie declared he held the pistol that killed his close friend.

Widow Held; Arraign Officer

LEWES, Del., Nov. 8.—(AP)—Army Warrant Officer Carl (Frenchie) Moulinie was charged with murder and pleaded innocent today in the shooting of his friend, Warrant Officer John B. Worthington, after a gay night club party early last Thursday.

Worthington's pretty widow, Elaine, 25, was held in $5,000 bail as a material witness. Deputy Attorney General Daniel J. Layton Jr. had quoted her as saying her husband accused her of intimacies with Moulinie just before Worthington was shot in their oceanfront cottage.

Layton announced that he would ask the grand jury to indict Moulinie on a charge of murder in the first degree. The next session of the court of oyer and terminer, in which he would be tried, is scheduled for February but Layton said he was considering the calling of a special session.

Both Moulinie and Mrs. Worthington, the former Elaine Brown, of Washington, have said that Moulinie held Worthington's service pistol when it caused the fatal wound, the deputy attorney said. Mrs. Worthington, he added, has admitted intimacies with Moulinie while Moulinie has denied any improper relations.

An inquest scheduled for today was canceled, Layton said, because "the evidence is conclusive."

gia. I shall insist that we move toward our program of prison reform in spite of the revolutions within the prisons."

Then Governor Arnall said:

"The prisoners in the state camps are trying to escape so they can get into Tattnall prison, where we are installing a real, honest effort to make men out of convicts."

From Wiley Moore's office yesterday a statement was issued charging "Wild Bill" Byrd with the shooting and murder of a guard, Clarence Cox, who died Monday of gunshot wounds inflicted by the 11 escaping convicts.

From the state highway camp in Coffee county yesterday, came word from Senator Elbert Forrester, who was sent to the scene to study the escape.

Guard Shot in Back.

Senator Forrester, of Dade county, told The Constitution last night:

"Bill Byrd, of Fulton county, did not murder Guard Cox. The shooting was done by Kenneth Brazell, who was sentenced to a five-year term in Evans county. Brazell was a prisoner who had served five years of an eight-year term. He was a burglar. He was transferred here from Reidsville.

"Cox was shot in the back."

And then, Senator Forrester said:

"I think Cox was shot in the excitement. He was shot in the back."

But, Senator Forrester said:

And Highway Director Clay said:

"Free labor is hard to get—but I believe we had better get it."

Dr. Glenn W. Rainey will be principal speaker at a meeting Tuesday of the Georgia Electoral Reform League. The meeting starts at 8 p. m. and will be in the Henry Grady hotel. Subject for discussion will be a recommendation to the Constitutional Commission of Georgia to abolish the poll tax as a prerequisite to voting in the state. Dr. Cullen B. Gosnell, secretary, will preside.

FALSE TEETH

That Loosen Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plate dropped, slipped or wabbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH, the alkaline (non-acid) powder, on your plates. Holds false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor" (denture breath). Get FASTEETH at any drug store.—(adv.)

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—(AP)—Financial markets today suffered one of their worst breaks of the year as heavy liquidation in virtually all categories was touched off by more insistent talk of an early European victory.

Paradoxical selling on the outlook for peace was explained in the light of difficulties which numerous domestic industries might encounter through cancellation of government contracts and reconversion costs if Germany collapses before economic preparations are made for the changeover. It was figured that earnings and dividends could be seriously affected, at least temporarily.

Losses for leaders ranged from 1 to 4 points with a few volatile performers dropping around 10.

Snow, Winds Block Roads in Midwest

CHICAGO, Nov. 8.—(AP)—Heavy snow whipped by powerful winds blocked roads, closed schools and impeded traffic across a wide stretch of the wintry midwest today.

The first extensive snow of the season, scaling up to a foot or more in some places, reached its greatest depth in Minnesota, Iowa, Nebraska and the Dakotas and fell in several adjacent states.

A seven-inch fall churned by a 40-mile-an-hour gale marooned 50 school children and between 15 and 20 adults in a filling station at Weeping Water, Neb., for almost 24 hours. They were freed when roads were opened this afternoon. A restaurant, operated in conjunction with the gasoline dispensary, kept them well fed during their imprisonment.

Snow Plows Stalled.

Snow plows sent to the rescue of four buses near Gretna, Neb., became stalled and more equipment was dispatched to dig out all the vehicles. The Nebraska ordnance plant at Mead shut down its production line because workers were unable to get to their jobs.

Schools in a score of Minnesota areas suspended classes because of the storm—in the third day there. Wire communication was disrupted, bus traffic was hampered and planes were grounded. Although only five deaths were attributed to the weather, Minnesotans compared the storm to the wave of cold and blizzards of November 11-14 in 1940, when 53 residents of the state lost their lives.

The current storm deposited 11 inches of snow in Fairmont, 10 in Albert Lea and nine in Mankato, Minn.

Many Schools Closed.

The snow was reported unofficially to range up to a foot and a half in the vicinity of Spirit Lake, Iowa. Almost all the schools were closed in the Spencer and Spirit Lake sections of northwestern Iowa.

As thermometer levels dropped to freezing or below at many points in the midwest, the coal situation was reported to be becoming critical in some sectors of Iowa. Heat in the statehouse was shut off at noon to conserve fuel.

Snow fell in Missouri, Wisconsin and Kansas. Snow, high winds and colder weather were forecast for Illinois, Indiana, Michigan and western Pennsylvania.

Methodists To Meet in Athens

By DR. THOMAS M. ELLIOTT.

ATHENS, Ga., Nov. 8.—All district superintendents of the north Georgia annual Methodist conference will be in consultation tomorrow at Athens with Bishop Arthur J. Moore, president of the conference, in arranging the pastoral appointments to be announced at the close of the annual conference session here next week. The special pre-conference meeting of the bishop and cabinet will continue through Friday, it was learned.

General expectation this year, it is said, is that fewer changes than usual will be made among pastors. Certain changes will be necessary, it is understood, because of retirement, naming two new district superintendents, assigning pastorates to new ministers admitted on trial, and supplying ministers for charges where former pastors have entered the chaplaincy. Where nearly 200 men have been changed at some former conference sessions it is expected that fewer than 100 will be moved at this time.

District superintendents expected to attend the Athens pre-conference meeting are as follows: The Rev. J. H. Barton, of the Athens-Elberton district; Dr. E. G. Mackay, of the Atlanta East district; Dr. Wallace Rogers, of the Atlanta West district; the Rev. J. W. O. McKibben, of the Augusta district; the Rev. C. M. Lipham, of the Dalton district; the Rev. H. H. Jones, of the Decatur-Oxford district; the Rev. J. F. Young, of the Gainesville district; the Rev. M. M. Maxwell, of the Griffin district; the Rev. G. L. King, of the LaGrange district, and Dr. W. H. LaPrade, of the Rome district.

The 1943 annual session of the north Georgia conference is scheduled to be held in Atlanta, beginning at 4 p. m. Tuesday of next week, at Wesley Memorial church, and continuing through Friday.

Features of the session this year will be the series of addresses to be delivered by Dr. Norman Vincent Peale, pastor of the New York Marble Collegiate church, and the election of clerical and lay delegates to the quadrennial general conference for next year, and to the jurisdictional conference, to be held here next June.

Pope Will Send Note To Both Allies, Nazis

LONDON, Nov. 8.—(AP)—Pope Pius XII will send a note to both the Germans and the Allies on the aerial violation of Holy See territory, the Vatican City correspondent of the German DNB agency said tonight.

In a broadcast recorded by the ministry of information, the agency quoted the Vatican newspaper Osservatore Romano as saying: "It is to be hoped that the evil custom of flying over Vatican City will at last be ended and the nationality of every plane which does fly over Vatican territory will be quickly and effectively ascertained."

The Vatican radio tonight did not mention this, but said Saint Peter's Cathedral was reopened Sunday morning after being closed one day for the completion of urgent repairs.

SPEAKER—Miss Beatrice Jones, New York insurance woman, will speak here Thursday before the Atlanta Life Underwriters' Association session.

Beatrice Jones To Speak Here

Miss Beatrice Jones, well-known life insurance underwriter, will speak Thursday at 12:30 p. m. at the monthly luncheon-meeting of the Atlanta Life Underwriters' Association, at Rich's tea room. Her topic will be "The Woman Market."

Miss Jones, who is agency assistant of the Guardian Life Insurance Company of America, with headquarters in New York city, is a Chartered Life Underwriter (C. L. U.) and is the second woman in New York city to have received this designation. She entered the life insurance business in 1928, became manager of women agents in 1932 and continued in management work until 1941. Since that time she has been an agency assistant.

Prior to her entry into the life insurance field, Miss Jones served as a personnel executive for the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey. She held this position for five years. At the recent meeting of the American Life Convention at Chicago, she appeared before the agency section and is the only woman ever invited to speak before that group.

Constitution Carrier Handles Paper 20 Years

ARLINGTON, Ga., Nov. 8.—A birthday and an anniversary will be observed here tomorrow by Joe Mansfield, when he will be 87 years old and the anniversary will be the close of his 20th year as local carrier for The Atlanta Constitution.

Mr. Mansfield, who takes great pride in his record as local dealer during that time for the paper, states although he feels like he is "about 17 years old" he doubts if he will "carry The Constitution another 20 years."

Clark Drives Toward Gaeta

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, ALGIERS, Nov. 8.—(AP)—Allied forces hammered relentlessly toward Rome today, the Eighth Army reaching a point less than 30 miles from the port of Pescara on the Adriatic sea and the Fifth Army driving hard on Gaeta, only 70 miles from Rome.

From their front-line positions nine miles from Gaeta, Lieutenant General Mark W. Clark's Fifth Army fighters heard several great explosions in the city, evidently from mines set off by the hard-pressed Nazis. Gaeta is the best port between Naples and Civitavecchia, above Rome, and would be of supreme value in supplying the next stage of the campaign for the Italian capital.

General Sir Bernard L. Montgomery's Eighth Army, sustaining its powerful offensive up the Adriatic, registered a six-mile gain to capture Casalbordino, occupy the entire length of the Sinello river and turn the whole left flank of the German front.

Thirteen miles inland from the mouth of the Carigliano river, American troops slugged forward a mile over wild mountainous terrain to seize Calabritto, while other other units occupied heights overlooking the key enemy stronghold of Mignano after beating back heavy Nazi counterattacks.

An Algiers broadcast by Radio France declared the Fifth Army already had taken Mignano and had advanced 10 miles north of Venafro.

The Germans, in belated realization of their danger, tossed two fresh divisions into the fighting—the 305th and 94th infantry—but the reinforcements came too late to stem the determined Allied rush. There now are nine Nazi divisions, approximately 135,000 men, in the line across the Italian peninsula.

General Montgomery's Eighth Army veterans, many of whom fought at El Alamein over a year ago and helped chase the Germans out of North Africa, took over the entire stretch of a major lateral highway running inland from Vasto on the Adriatic and at some points were within seven miles of the Sangro river, along which the Nazis were expected to attempt their next stand.

With Indian troops taking a prominent part in the advance, the Eighth captured Scerni, seven miles due west of Vasto; Casalbordino, an equal distance northwest; Carunchio, 20 miles southwest; and Gissi, 12 miles southwest of Vasto, an Allied communique announced.

Pecsara, apparent objective of Montgomery's crushing drive, is the Adriatic terminus of the most valuable lateral road in central Italy—the main highway crossing the peninsula through Avezzano to Rome. The Germans were launching repeated tank attacks in unavailing efforts to halt this serious "back door" threat to the Eternal City.

Scarcely less serious from the enemy standpoint was the seizure by General Clark's Americans of heights around Mignano.

This drive opened the way for a thrust behind the Aurunci mountains and up a broad valley to Cassino along the Via Casilina, main inland route to Rome. Some German units fighting in this sector were reported here to be veterans of the Russian front.

There was much evidence that the Nazis were caught off balance by the weight of the new Allied offensive, just as they were caught napping by the great fleets which steamed into the Mediterranean a year ago today and seized jumping-off places for the present campaign.

At least 16 enemy motor vehicles were destroyed and 13 damaged as American Warhawks, A-36 Invaders and A-20 Bostons swept the skies behind the German lines.

Farm Agent Is Named For Lamar County

BARNESVILLE, Ga., Nov. 8.—W. W. Denny, of Douglas county, will arrive in Barnesville December 1 to assume his duties as Lamar county's agricultural agent, according to J. E. Bush, chairman of county commissioners.

Denny has been stationed at Douglasville three and one-half years as county agent. Prior to that time he served as assistant agent of Spalding county. He is a graduate of the University of Georgia.

Drive Opens To Lift 'Little Steel' Ceiling

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 8.—(AP)—The United Steel Workers of America opened a drive today to lift the "Little Steel" wage ceiling and Philip Murray, president of the USWA and of the Congress of Industrial Organizations, said "one may assume" that other CIO unions will follow suit.

The steel workers, whose 15% per cent cost of living increase in July, 1942, established the War Labor Board's "Little Steel" formula for passing on other applications for higher pay, voted to reopen 1,300 collective bargaining contracts involving 900,000 members.

Murray said the extent of the steel workers' wage demand would be determined at a meeting of union executives tentatively set for November 30 in Pittsburgh.

"Unfair Burden."

Today's action was taken at a meeting of the union's executive board, which declared the wage stabilization program has placed an "unfair burden" on labor because "while the wages have been frozen, the other portions of the program have been ignored, thereby laying the basis for inflation."

"One may assume," Murray said, "that other unions with the same grievance will follow with demands for an increase. We will proceed on the basis of negotiating a satisfactory contract. The whole problem of the 'Little Steel' formula will then present itself to the War Labor Board."

Murray said representatives of only 500,000 "basic steel" workers would be represented at the Pittsburgh meeting but that "other unions will follow suit."

Rate Differential.

It also would be "fair to assume," he added, that the unions would ask for elimination of the differential between rates in the south and north, in line with the CIO national convention's demand last week for equal pay for equal work."

The southern minimum now is 52 cents and the northern 78 cents, he said, adding that reports the steel workers would seek a flat 15 cents an hour increase were "in the realm of conjecture."

Murray said the CIO "has expended $2,500,000 on wage stabilization and price control education and has been unable to do anything about it."

"The whole picture is off balance," he declared. "We agreed to support wage stabilization but when the President's tax program was not adopted by congress, the burden of the tax load was thrust upon the workers."

King Vittorio Emanuele Describes Rome Escape

NAPLES, Nov. 5.—(Delayed)—(AP)—King Vittorio Emanuele chatter for more than an hour today with Colonel Edgar Hume, Frankfort, Ky., chief AMF officer of the Naples district, who said "not one word of politics" was discussed during the interview.

Hume said the monarch summoned him to the stately villa here where he had met a number of prominent Italians.

The King questioned him closely about food conditions in Naples, Hume declared, expressed gratification that AMG was getting some white bread to the Italians now and added, "we still are eating brown bread in my family."

Describing his escape from Rome at the time of the Italian armistice the King told how he fled the capital at dawn in an automobile "with no clothes except those I was wearing," Hume reported.

Atlantan Plans Photographic Career

By YOLANDE GWIN.

A great future in photography for Mrs. Walter Lyon Bloom, the former Miss Suzanne Ferst, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Ferst.

Mrs. Bloom has just completed a course at the New York School of Modern Photography and hopes to enter the professional field to follow her chosen career. Her interest in photography was awakened when she did amateur work with the theater arts group while a student at the Finch school in New York.

After her marriage more than a year ago, the attractive Atlantan, who is also an accomplished rider, moved to the east, and now resides in New York, where her husband, Dr. Bloom, is doing research work for the Navy. It was while in New York that Mrs. Bloom decided to continue her photographic studies and enrolled at school. Action pictures are her favorite subjects, with a partiality towards news shots.

Personals

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bewick and Mr. and Mrs. Henry B. Tompkins have returned from New York city.

Lieutenant Frank A. Allen and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jake C. Allen, have returned from a visit to Indiana, where they attended the graduation ceremonies of Lieutenant William H. Boulineau. Mrs. Boulineau is the former Miss Sarah A. Allen

Lieutenant William H. Bolineau has received his wings at pilot, graduating with special honor and has been assigned to Bergstrom Field, Austin, Texas, where he was accompanied by Mrs. Bolineau.

Mrs. J. D. Lathem, who has been ill at Piedmont hospital, has returned to her home on Virginia avenue.

John Medlin Jr., of Rome, spent the weekend with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Medlin, on Pace's Ferry place. While in the city, Mr. Medlin, who was recently appointed superintendent of Floyd county schools, attended the meeting of the Georgia Association of School Administrators.

Miss Elliott Weds Lt. Henry Belcher.

Miss Kathalyn Joyce Elliott, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Elliott, became the bride of Lieutenant Henry W. Belcher Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry W. Belcher, recently at the Fox Street Methodist church.

Rev. A. M. Wade officiated and music was presented by Misses Jeanette and Helen Collier and Mrs. Harold Repurtus. The church was decorated with white gladioli and purple dahlias, and candelabra held white tapers. The decorations were arranged by Mrs. H. C. Dixon.

C. T. Turnipseed, Fairrell Pilgrim and Glyn Touchstone were the ushers, and H. A. Brooks, the groom's father was the best man.

Miss Louise Fuller was maid of honor and was gowned in gold taffeta and her flowers were pink rosebuds.

Mr. Elliott gave his daughter in marriage. She was lovely in a model of white taffeta and a lace finger-tip veil. Her only ornament was a strand of pearls, the gift of the groom, and she carried a white prayer book showered with orchids.

A reception followed the ceremony at the home of the bride's parents on Fox street. Gladioli, dahlias and chrysanthemums were used as the decorations. Assisting in entertaining were Mesdames Hershel Roberts, Mrs. G. T. Touchstone and Mrs. J. J. Gamblin. Mrs. Elliott, the bride's mother, wore a shrimp-colored, two-piece dress worn with black accessories and gardenias. Mrs. Belcher, the groom's mother, was gowned in a blue and gold two-piece suit worn with brown accessories, and her flowers were pink roses.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Sexton, T. Z. Belcher, Mrs. W. J. Barker, Miss Marjorie Barber, all of Adairsville, and Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Belcher, Robert Belcher and Pat Belcher, all of Austell.

Y. W. C. A. Classes.

Mrs. E. Marvin Underwood will open a series of art appreciation classes at the Y. W. C. A., today at 10:30 a. m., with a lecture on "Chinese Art."

The music appreciation hour will be conducted by Mrs. Alex King Jr., violinist. She will outline the history of the violin and violin composers and will play selections accompanied by Mrs. Charles Chalmers.

Discuss Problems With Fiance, Reach Mutual Understanding

By Dixie George.

Dear Dixie:

Before joining the Army in 1941 I was engaged. We had been going together since 1938, when we graduated together from high school. We had planned to be married in December, when I have hopes of getting a furlough. Through a mutual friend I have learned that she has been seeing a great deal of an officer in the Air Corps stationed nearby. He is married and has a wife and children in another state. I'll call her Lucy, for convenience, and she is, I am sure, just infatuated with the glamor and dash of a pilot. She is still planning on marrying me next month, but how can I be sure that she will snap out of this after we are married?

We cannot be together after we are married, and to leave her at the mercy of those "wolves" will keep me in a mental "state" all of the time. Lucy is a good girl, I am sure, and if she were cognizant of the worry she is causing me and the fool she is making of herself she would not do these things. Should I go ahead with this marriage?

DISGRUNTLED, DISALLUSIONED, UNDECIDED.

If Lucy continues to plan on marrying you next month, I feel sure that she loves you. As for her stepping out after marriage that is something that will have to be discussed by you both; for if you have to go back to camp and she remains at home, some understanding will have to be reached about the date situation. Some of the husbands and wives feel that it is perfectly all right to date while they are separated due to the war. Others oppose this custom. It is left entirely up to the individuals. As for her being left to "wolves" don't let that worry you, for if she really loves you enough to marry you, she is not going to be in danger of any "wolves." The glamor and dash of the Air Corps officer may have made her oblivious to the fact that he is married with children. Why don't you mention this to her and tell her you would rather she did not date this officer? Don't assume the dictator role, but tell her quite honestly and firmly that as her fiance you would rather if she insisted on dating, to date a single man. Also tell her how much she worries you. She should have some feeling about the matter if she has any feeling for you at all.

BREAK UP OLD AFFAIR

Dear Dixie:

I knew he was married when I began having dates with him, but he was the man I loved. That was four years tago. We still see each other whenever possible, and things have been going on this same way, and the future looks the same as the past. Don't you think that if there had been any hope of us ever marrying he would have done something about it long before now? He keeps telling me that "there will come a day." I don't believe it, do you?

WONDERING.

Perhaps he means there will come a day when you will realize how much you have lost in running around with him. I think it is high time you made a break and found a man free of the ties of marriage. I think if he had loved you he would have done something about it before now.

MARRY MAN WHO LOVES YOU

Dear Dixie:

I love a widower with three children. He is a fine type of man, and one whom I could be proud of always. I love him in a way, but not as much as a man who doesn't seem to care a snap about me or whether I live or die. I have tried to make him fall in love with me, but he is unmovable Do you think I would be wise to try a few more years to make him fall in love with me, or should I marry the widower?

J. C. M.

Marry the widower. You love him, and I don't think there is much chance with the other man. If you have admitted that he does not care for you, you surely must have some reason to think this, and you are just wasting your time.

SEND MORE INFORMATION

Dear Unhappy Girl in Gainesville:

Write me your name and address and I will give you the name you wish.

MY DAY

By Eleanor Roosevelt.

WASHINGTON, Sunday, Nov. 7.—Friday night in Washington I met with the civilian employes of the adjutant general's office. They have organized a series of "sings," at which they get a chance to meet each other and sing together. Judging by what I heard in the few minutes I was waiting to go on the platform, they are going to sing very well.

I am sure it must be hard for many of the men and women who work here in Washington under very uncomfortable conditions and at rather low government salaries, to realize that they are making a real contribution to the war effort and are closely tied to the actual soldiers at the front.

Of course, to us who look on, it is plain that without the smooth functioning of the offices in Washington the whole machine of war would go to pieces. Take just one little thing. If the families were not notified when their boys were in hospitals, if the records were not kept so that when boys are transferred from one hospital to another and families notified of the boys' whereabouts, people all over this country would be deeply disturbed.

I am conscious of this because in certain cases where things do go wrong, people write to try to remedy the difficulty. Sometimes a boy has been moved to a new hospital and his records haven't followed him. Therefore, he is not being paid, or his family has lost track of him and he isn't getting his mail.

These government employes here in Washington who keep these files going and make up these endless lists, and wonder whether anything they do is of any importance in the war, should really know that the sacrifices they make in order to do their jobs here, have a direct bearing on the way the war is being carried on.

Yesterday morning I went to American University, which has been taken over by the Red Cross for its volunteer services educational program. It was interesting to go over the school and to listen for a few minutes and to realize how eagerly these men and women are looking forward to their service in this country and overseas.

The afternoon was filled with appointments, at half-hour intervals. In the evening, Governor and Mrs. Stainback, who are here from Honolulu, dined with me and I took them to see "Sons o' Fun." This is rather a rowdy show, but it certainly provides the audience with plenty of amusement. Everyone around me seemed to be in gales of laughter and almost everyone is benefited by a good laugh these days.

Become Streamlined in Teens, Watch Diet, Exercise Daily

By Ida Jean Kain.

Any 'teen age girl can have a beautiful figure—and if you have that, you don't have to be in a crowd to get by. Want to cook with gas? Here is the recipe: You mix 15 minutes of exercise with three balanced meals and add a dash of sports activity for the fun of it.

Yesterday I told you about the sweet sixteen who lost 18 pounds just by eating three good meals a day. Her daily fare included three glasses of whole milk, three fruits, two vegetables and a salad, a serving of meat or fish, an egg, a whole grain cereal, and three slices of bread with her ration of butter—and that's all! You notice she had no rich desserts, no extra bread and butter, no peanuts, and no sodas. In 12 weeks she had 18 pounds less weight to carry around.

Now, let's talk about her exercise program. Her waistline measured 27 chubby inches and that is dowdy, even at 16. Here are the exercises that whittled off two and one-half inches.

Movement: Stretch up and pull very slim through the mid-section. Now, twist smack at the waist and bend sideward to touch the fingers of both hands to the outstretched toes. To get that sideward bend, you hold both arms close to the head. Sit up again, pull slim, twist and sidebend in the other direction. Eight times will be enough for a starter, even though you are young. Gradually work up to 40 counts.

Not over-eating will reduce the size of your stomach, but you want to put some stiffening in the front muscles that act as stays.

Position: Lie on floor with feet elevated on sofa or chairseat, legs straight and arms straight down at sides.

Movement: Press the small of the back flat against the floor and hold it there as you swing one leg up to a right angle with the trunk and fling both arms up on floor beyond head. Alternate legs and repeat 12 times. That's an exercise that straightens you right out.

For a special hip and thigh exercise, do this one:

Position: Standing with back to chairback, hands on back of chair for support.

Movement: Flex one knee high up toward chest and make circles with the point of the knee, six times in one direction, then six in the other. Rest and perform with other leg. Finish by standing sideways to chair, hand on it for support, and swinging the leg from the hip away up in front, and high up in back—as many times as you please. Repeat with the other leg.

One of the secrets of keeping a good figure—even when you get to be an old lady of 35—is to take up some sport while you are young and to become so good at it that it is fun. There aren't any bad figures among the athletes. Look at Esther Williams, the swimming champ. She's got a movie contract!

Ice Cream Her Weakness.

I am 44, 63 inches tall, weigh 128 pounds. I can't satisfy myself when it comes to ice cream—I could eat it morning, noon and night. (Mrs. S. M.)

Answer—You do not indicate how much ice cream you eat. If you take plenty of exercise, play or work hard (with your muscles) you can get away with half a pint a day readily enough. You are eight or 10 pounds underweight. Main objection to ice cream as the chief source of calories in the diet is that it tends to satisfy appetite for a while but fails to provide essential vitamins. You should have careful medical overhaul, including tests for sugar in urine and excess sugar in blood.

Horsewhip Needed.

Dear Doctor: Please help my mother so my daddy will stop getting drunk. Thank you. (Louise.)

Answer—I'm sorry, Louise, but you did not give your address. If you can persuade your daddy to get in touch with Alcoholics Anonymous the help and encouragement he will get from such a group will enable him to stop drinking. Write to Alcoholics Anonymous, Box 658, Church Street Annex, New York City, N. Y., and ask for the address of a group in or near your city. They have no cure or treatment to sell, just earnest and mighty helpful friendship and encouragement which seems to be the right medicine for many a person who cannot quit by himself. The men or women in Alcoholics Anonymous have themselves conquered the drink habit and are anxious to help others to beat it as they have done.

Poor Man's Insulin.

I am anxious to find out just what kind of vitamin B, B1, or B complex you call "poor man's insulin," as I believe I am a potential diabetic—my father and one grandparent I know had diabetes.

(R. H. A.)

Answer—Send 10 cents and 3-cent-stamped envelope bearing your address, for booklet "Training for Diabetes." "Poor man's insulin" is vitamin B, (thiamin) but if I were training for diabetes (heredity, overeating, insufficient daily work, play or exercise) I'd take naturally the natural B complex which includes not only thiamin but the other desirable vitamins of the B group.

G. Bernard Shaw's Life Screened In London When War Is Over

By Louella O. Parsons.

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 8.—(INS) When the war is over, Gabriel Pascal, who produced most of the George Bernard Shaw story properties, will film "The Life of George Bernard Shaw" in London. And guess which Hollywood actor is leading the parade for the Shaw role? George Sanders, whose salty wit is as conspicuous, if not as celebrated, as Shaw's own brand.

George, who dearly loved to be insulting (so does G. B. S.) is an ideal choice. Today, William Shiffrin, Sanders' agent, received a cable from Pascal saying George is candidate No. 1 for the Shaw characterization.

Somebody jumped the gun announcing Dorothy McGuire for one of the top roles in "So Little Time." David Selznick denies it. It now looks like the McGuire girl's next movie will be a sequel to "Claudia." Everyone, including Twentieth Century, is a little on the surprised side at the business "Claudia" has been doing at the box office, for Dorothy wasn't well known to movie fans. Bill Perlberg, who produced the picture, is heading for New York to talk to Author Rose Franken about the new screen adventures of the cute but dumb bride.

Ed Finney thinks he has the perfect "escape" picture of all time. He has just bought "White Fury," and Eskimo opus made in Lapland. The only white man in the all-Eskimo cast is Peter Freuchen, who several years ago wrote "Eskimo" for M-G-M. Highlight of the film is the stampede of 10,000 reindeer.

Chatter in Hollywood: Poor Van Heflin was proudly showing the Oscar he won to his superior officer when it dropped to the floor and broke into a million pieces. Because of priorities, last year's Oscars were made of just a little glue and plaster. The Academy doesn't know what it can do about replacing the trophy that meant so much to Van. It's the first time this particular problem has come up.

Snapshots of Hollywood Collected at Random: Addison Randall is telling friends he and Barbara Bennett are expecting the stork; Constance Bennett closes her Chicago run of "Without Love" next week and heads back to Hollywood; Joe E. Brown is in New York on the first lap of another jaunt overseas to entertain the boys; Joan Blondell, Mike Todd, Binnie Barnes and Mike Frankovich among those in the birthday party Joe tossed for Mrs. B at the Stork Club; Adolphe Menjou getting a royal welcome from the crowd at the Brown Derby; Sam Goldwyn has signed 21-year-old Maureen Daly, author of "Seventeenth Summer," and she's coming to Hollywood in January; Jane Withers, who has proclaimed she won't think of marriage for at least four years, dining with Leonard Sues at the Brown Derby; Eva Gabor's husband, boatswains Mate Charles Isaacs, proved himself a hero when he saved the life of a pilot, forced to bail out of his plane; Buz Berkeley with Petty Lorraine Breecher at Mike Lyman's. That's all today. See you tomorrow!

Your Horoscope

By ALICE DENTON JENNINGS.

March 21-April 19 (ARIES)—Previous to 2:25 p. m. progress in your affairs will be delayed, and this is a time to put finishing touches to old things. After 2:25 p. m. care should be used in handling machinery and tools.

April 20-May 20 (TAURUS)—Today is good for research, unusual ideas, and dealings with people in affairs out of the ordinary.

May 21-June 20 (GEMINI)—Upset conditions and sudden changes resulting in loss will mark new beginnings; so try to postpone them. However, you can finish up work that calls for tact and diplomacy.

June 21-July 22 (CANCER)—Matters of business, official standing and your relations with employers can be benefitted.

July 23-Aug. 22 (LEO)—The entire day favors ordinary and routine affairs. This is especially true in connection with communications, correspondence and around metals and vehicles.

Aug. 23-Sept. 22 (VIRGO)—You will accomplish more by working along, as others are not apt to see your way of thinking, or doing things.

Sept. 23-Oct. 22 (LIBRA)—Previous to 9:09 a. m. is the time to do those things you desire to materialize quickly. After 9:09 a. m. favors matters pertaining to property and things of a permanent nature.

Oct. 23-Nov. 21 (SCORPIO)—The new and extraordinary should be shunned previous to 2:27 p. m. After 2:27 p. m. is auspicious for practical, matter-of-fact work, for general business and hard work.

Nov. 22-Dec. 21 (SAGITTARIUS)—Any venture that requires enthusiasm or creative ability is apt to encounter disappointments, or you may find that artistic and creative people you may contact are sensitive.

Dec. 22-Jan. 19 (CAPRICORN)—This is not a favorable day for changing the old order of things. You can obtain better support for your activities after 1:54 p. m. if you will avoid over activity.

Jan. 20-Feb. 18 (AQUARIUS)—Complications and frustrations enter affairs previous to 12:02 noon. Between 12:02 noon and 1:48 p. m. do not make changes. After 1:48 p. m. favors making pleasant contacts, both in business and social affairs.

Feb. 19-March 20 (PISCES)—Plan to bring your diplomacy to the front today, as this is not an auspicious day for new, important, and risky ventures.

EXTRA SUDS!"

"So much more, longer-lastin' suds can make anybody a washin' expert," says Mrs. Dorothy Barnett

● "Mrs. Lillian Charles, my neighbor, knows my washin' is no picnic, because I've got three frisky boys to wash for. That's what made her remark on my gettin' the wash on the line so early. I gave all the credit where credit was due — to ALL THOSE EXTRA-RICH, LONG-LASTIN' SUDS I get from new, sudsier-than-ever Super Suds. It sure is a whiz!"

● Time is doubly precious these days... and time is just one of the things women say they save by washing with new, sudsier-than-ever Super Suds. SO MUCH MORE SUDS, SUCH LONGER-LASTING SUDS, they say, get dirt out quicker, easier, with less wear on clothes. Let new Super Suds do the same for you!

"THE TWINS, Robert and Raymond, are teasin' Donald about gettin' his sleeve dirty. I say, 'Thank goodness it's so easy to get grimy sleeves clean with new Super Suds.'"

★ DON'T WASTE SOAP! ★
Vital materials needed to win the war are used in making soap

1. Don't just pour soap in from the box. Measure it out in a cup so that you don't use too much.
2. Don't wash a few clothes at a time, which means soap for each batch. Save them up and wash everything at once.
3. Don't soak clothes first in soapy water. Modern soaps are made to take out the dirt in the regular washing.
4. Don't wash dishes without first rinsing them. Less soap is needed if they are rinsed first. Wash greasy dishes last.

Super Suds

Make the easy "milk-bottle suds test"
Shake up two teaspoons of your old wash-day soap and a glass of water in a milk-bottle. Do the same with new, sudsier-than-ever Super Suds in another milk-bottle. Even hard or cool water will do. See if you don't get more suds, longer-lasting suds, from new Super Suds.

FLOODS O' SUDS FOR DISHES AND DUDS

-:- Just Ramblin' -:-

By MARY HARRIS ROWSEY.

ROSALIE BROOKS (MRS. ROBERT E. III) HALL expects to take off again before long. She plans to return to the west coast to rejoin Ensign Hall, and will be accompanied by their seven-month-old daughter, Dee. Unless something unforeseen arises to change her schedule, she and the baby will depart on the 24th of this month.

She has been visiting her mother, Mrs. Charles W. Brooks, for the past three weeks. Since she has numerous friends here she has been the center of admiring attention from the minute she stepped off the train.

Rosalie's present stay may be termed a lengthy one, for on the other occasions that she has been back home during the past year she has popped in only long enough to catch up on news of her friends. And then popped out again.

MISS JACQUELINE HOLCOMBE.

Holcombe-Grace Betrothal Told

Announcement is made today by Mr. and Mrs. James B. Holcombe of the engagement of their daughter, Miss Jacqueline Marie Holcombe, to Aviation Cadet Lawrence G. Grace Jr., of Delbarton, W. Va., now stationed in Alabama. The wedding will take place at an early date.

The bride-elect's mother is the former Miss Oma Parrish, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Parrish, of Bremen. Her father is the son of the late General Jackson Holcombe and Mrs. Mary Holcombe.

Miss Holcombe is a graduate of Druid Hills High school. She is now connected with the American Telephone and Telegraph Company.

Cadet Grace is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence G. Grace, of Delbarton, W. Va. He received his education at Riverside Military Academy and later attended the Lewis School of Aeronautics in Illinois.

SPEAKING of the west coast —it's being rumored that before long one of our most attractive belles will head in that direction, her ultimate destination being the altar!

Not so many months ago she was maid of honor in a quiet but important wedding. The bride on that occasion will be her matron of honor and only attendant, so we hear.

By coincidence, not only are the initials of the bride-to-be's given and surnames the same, but her matron of honor's maiden name also is a double initial one. The two sets of initials, however, are not the same letters of the alphabet.

To give any other clue would make the bride-to-be's identity too obvious. And sleuthing isn't any fun unless there is some difficulty involved in solving the riddle.

THEO (Mrs. A. A.) GREENE'S letter to the Quill Club, which was printed in this column a week ago today, is responsible for another communication from Beaufort, S. C., where she and Dr. Greene are now residing.

The second letter is from Marie Smith (Mrs. John S.) Manley, formerly of Griffin, Ga., mentioned by Theo as a long lost friend whom she had rediscovered—and also as being partly responsible for her good luck in being able to lease an apartment in the same building.

Marie, it seems, had a surprise when she read about herself. But her note was not to divulge further personal information. Rather it was to mention something about the Allen Candlers, who also live in the same building. Due to another coincidence, Marie also has a "connection" with this attractive couple. Seems that Allen is a distant kinsman of Lucy Candler (Mrs. Homer) Thompson, who was a classmate of Marie at National Park Seminary!

By the way, did you know that this former feshionable girls' school is now an annex to Walter Reed hospital, and is being used by convalescent Army men?

FRIDAY was a real red-letter day for little Bill Minnich Jr. Not only was his broken leg out of its plaster cast and in a brace that at least allows him to hobble, but it was his birthday. He is three years old now and quite a man.

Birthdays, of course, should never go uncelebrated. So Bill's mother, Caroline Paullin Minnich, invited in all the neighborhood boys for ice cream and cake, which was served in the backyard of their Vernon road home.

It was most informal—the way men like their stag gatherings—and Bill says that it was the best birthday party ANYBODY ever had!

B. W. M. U. Board To Meet Today

The executive board of Baptist Woman's Missionary Union is in session today at the Henry Grady hotel. Final plans are being considered for the observance of the Lottie Moon season of special prayer and offering for foreign missions, November 29-December 3, inclusive. During this week the more than 3,000 missionary societies of the state will meet each day for prayer, and offerings of more than $30,000 are anticipated. This money will be used to pay salaries of foreign missionaries and otherwise promote missions on foreign fields. November will be given to the study of Blanche Sydnor White's book, "More Than Conquerors."

The report of the Margaret fund chairman, Mrs. W. A. Adkins, shows that 86 students, sons and daughters of missionaries, are this year being given an opportunity for college study through this fund.

Highlighting today's meeting are the reports of the eight divisional vice presidents of the state. A series of conferences and institutes throughout the divisions is just now drawing to a close.

The opening devotional period will be led by Mrs. F. P. Drake. Mrs. Peter Kittles, of Sylvania, will preside, assisted by Mrs. John T. Thompson, vice president, and Mesdames S. D. Katz and V. M. Chambless, recording secretaries, of Atlanta.

University Women Plan Meetings.

The evening discussion group of the American Association of University Women will meet in the Blue Flame room, Atlanta Gas Company, this evening. A question box at 7 p. m. will be followed at 7:30 by a formal discussion of outstanding events, led by Dr. Ross H. McLean, of the department of history, Emory University.

A study of the book by Dr. Alice Hamilton, "Exploring the Dangerous Trades," will be presented by Mrs. F. C. Sturmer to the biography study group Thursday at 10:30 a. m. at the Y. W. C. A., 37 Auburn avenue. The hostesses will be Misses Ida and Marianne Melson.

The executive board will meet Friday at 3:30 p. m. at Rich's. Dr. Elizabeth Fuller Jackson, of Agnes Scott College, will talk on the "Fellowship Fund."

Miss Willis Feted By Beta Sigma Phi.

The Atlanta chapters of Beta Sigma Phi will honor Miss Clyde Willis, field executive from international headquarters in Kansas City, Mo., at a program-reception at the Henry Grady hotel at 8:15 p. m., his evening. Miss Willis recently returned from Los Angeles, where she spent six months working with chapters there.

Miss Frances Hendrix is president of the Atlanta council of Beta Sigma Phi, and Mrs. Alonzo Richardson, Mrs. Frank J. Henry and Mrs. Gladys Ellis are sponsors. Chapter presidents are: Iota, Miss Ruth Barron; Lambda, Miss Frances Walton; Epsilon, Miss Lucile Dangerfield; and Kappa, Miss Christine Pope. Educational directors are Miss Mary Mendenhall, Mrs. Alice Cox Reins and Miss Florence Willis.

Reception To Honor Henry C. Wolfe.

A reception honoring Henry C. Wolfe, international affairs expert just returned from Europe, who will lecture at Agnes Scott this evening, will be given in Murphey Candler biulding at the college immediately after his address.

In the receiving line will be Mr. Wolfe, Dr. J .R. McCain, president of the college; Miss Emma May Laney, faculty member of the lecture committee, and Miss Betty Sullivan, of Anderson, S. C., student chairman of the committee.

Miss Leslie Janet Gaylord and Miss Kathryn Glick will pour coffee. The affair will be held in the lobby of Murphey Candler building.

P.-T. A. Groups Observe American Education Week

In observing American Education Week, November 7-14, the role of the schools in the war effort, the adverse effects of the teacher shortage upon the education of boys and girls, the measures needed to offset juvenile delinquency, and the importance of improving the school program in terms of new needs and of upholding school support in wartime may well be studied by parent-teacher associations throughout the state, it is suggested by Mrs. Robert A. Long, president of the Georgia Congress of Parents and Teachers.

"The interpretation of school needs in the present crisis is the special mission of American Education Week this year. The emphasis is upon education for victory. Planned parent-teacher programs promoting education in Georgia is most important. Parents may inform themselves and the public through regular visits to the schools, through study groups, and through community gatherings. Good schools are essential in war and in peace. They serve as instruments of victory and agencies of reconstruction, and build the future."

E. Rivers School.

E. Rivers P.-T. A. meets at 7:30 p. m. tonight. A youth rally with the character building agencies represented at the E. Rivers school will be the theme of the program. W. D. A christening service was held yesterday afternoon for Elizabeth Taylor Kyle, small daughter of Lieutenant and Mrs. Vernon Kyle, at the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Taylor Jr., in Druid Hills. Rev. Eugene C. Few officiated at 4 p. m. in the presence of relatives and a few close friends of Mr. and Mrs. Kyle.

Mrs. Henry Heinz Jr. is godmother for the baby, and Lieutenant George Tate, U. S. Signal Corps, who was best man in her parents' wedding, is her godfather. Neither was able to be present, for Mrs. Heinz is in Miami, Fla., with Mr. Heinz, and Lieutenant Tate is on Army maneuvers.

The silver bowl used for the baptismal service was the same as that used when Mrs. Kyle, the former Miss Betty Taylor, was christened.

Lieutenant and Mrs. Kyle and their small daughter will leave today for California, where the former will be stationed at Camp Haan.

Miss Gibson Becomes Bride Of Robert L. Brown at Church

MRS. ROBERT L. BROWN.

Announcement is made by Mrs. William Watson Gibson, of Donalsonville, of the marriage of her daughter, Miss Emily Ray Gibson, to Robert Leighton Brown, of Atlanta, which was solemnized recently at the Druid Hills Presbyterian church, with Dr. William M. Elliott Jr. officiating.

The bride is a graduate of Donalsonville High school and took her business training in Birmingham, Ala. While traveling in Europe, she did post graduate work at the Sorbonne, Paris, France. Upon returning to the states, she taught at Fassifern School for Girls, Hendersonville, N. C. For the past three years, she has been employed in the Department of Labor.

Mrs. Brown is the younger daughter of Mrs. Gibson and the late Mr. Gibson, of Donalsonville and Charlotte, N. C.

The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. A. Paul Brown and the late Mr. Brown, of Atlanta. He graduated from Boys' High school and Emory University, and is a member of the Chi Phi fraternity. He is employed at Hercules Powder Company, holding the position of chemist. He is the brother of Mrs. G. Seals Aiken and Captain A. Paul Brown Jr., who is stationed at the Desert Training school in California.

Debutante Club To Sponsor Benefit Bridge November 19

Members of the 1943-'44 Debutante Club launched plans for their first fund-raising project at the meeting held Sunday at the Piedmont Driving Club. The project will be a benefit bridge party to be held at 3:30 p. m. on Friday, November 19, at Rich's, Inc.

Proceeds from the affair will go to the charity the Debutante Club has elected to sponsor this year, which is the demonstration garden at Egleston hospital.

Miss Anne Equen, president of the Debutante Club, will serve as general chairman for the bridge party, with Miss Edwina Macon as ticket chairman, assisted by Miss Lee Gaugler, co-chairman.

Miss Carolyn Howell was elected chairman of prizes, with Miss Betty Jo Newbanks as her co-chairman. Miss Howell announces that one of the prizes will be a huge bag of rationed canned goods and that other prizes will include numerous and useful articles.

Other officers of the club, Misses Tina Will, Rochelle Williams and Elinor Sauls, and the club members will assist at the benefit bridge, which will attract hundreds of prominent Atlantans.

Atlantans Get First Look at Bulldogs Saturday

All in the Game

By JACK TROY

Daniel Field Visitor Where former athletes have been found as commanding officers, there have been excellent athletic programs in Army camps, Captain Hank Stovall, coach of Daniel Field—Augusta Army Air Base—and former L. S. U. athlete, reported to Touchdown Club members yesterday.

Stovall, looking ahead, hoped for a "must" program of physical education in postwar planning, saying it would enable "men to deteriorate gracefully as we are able to do."

The Daniel Field coach reported that the sad part of the older men coming into the service nowadays is that they're men who neglected an athletic program and didn't go out for teams. As a consequence, they're in poor shape physically.

Stovall recalled being strapped up as a result of a broken collar bone when L. S. U. and the '28 Tech team played, and he reported he was just as happy he spent the afternoon warming up on the sidelines.

"Our team ran into a cyclone last week," Stovall added. "The 17th of Fort Benning, featuring Poschner, J. P. Miller, Dudish, Ruark, Waterfield, and other stars, has gone to work now on developing reserve strength."

Events of the weekly meeting of the Touchdowners included the return of Everett Strupper, who's been out of town, as toastmaster; Muggsy Smith missing 13 games in his selections and receiving the gold and white pot; the appearance of Major General Gus Franke as a guest; the report of officials on various games, and showing of the Duke-Tech film by Bobby Dodd.

O. B. Keeler, reporting on L. S. U. and Tech, pointed out how the one-man team collapsed after Van Buren was stopped. He was pointed out as a hard straight-away runner with little deception. Bernie Moore said afterwards there was no sense in keeping him in the game with a hurt leg, as he was too outclassed anyway.

Sugar Bowl There Representatives of the Sugar Bowl committee were New York visitors last weekend. Al Wachenheim and Sam Corenswet didn't reveal the nature of their business, but it undoubtedly had something to do with football.

Sunday Wachenheim rode down to Philadelphia with Harry Wismer, who has been selected for the second straight year to do the Sugar Bowl broadcast. And Wachenheim went on the air with Wismer prior to the Redskins-Steagle thriller, and assured listeners the same high standard would be maintained this year away down yonder in New Orleans.

The Steagles had just scored on the vaunted Redskins when it was necessary for this correspondent to leave Shibe Park and catch a train for home. The Steagles went on to tie the Redskins and put the first blemish on George (Wet-wash) Marshall's aborigines' record this season.

Shibe Park was almost filled to capacity for the game and there was a general air of expectancy as to the Steagles' chances. Ray Graves, ex-Tennessee captain and center, is pivot man for the Steagles and was one of the standout performers.

Attendance at professional football games this season generally is terrific.

Slip in the Night A slip passed in the night Monday. I referred to Colonel Rosie O'Donnell, who coached for several years at West Point. The reference came out as Colonel Rosie "O'Grady."

Of course, the name of Rosie O'Grady has been hailed through the years in song, but this Rosie O'Donnell distinctively was, and is, masculine.

The story was about a forced landing in the midst of the Gobi desert. O'Donnell had been favored many times in the past with Ford Motor Company courtesy cars by Harry Bennett. Seeing his companion was a little downcast by their predicament there in the Gobi wasteland, O'Donnell quipped:

The quick wit of the colonel saved the day and, in typical O'Donnell style—he operated in a heavy bombardment squadron after Pearl Harbor—the desert misadventure was only short-lived.

The Miller Family Friends of Don Miller, one of the Four Horsemen, will be interested to learn of the birth six weeks ago of Don Jr.

The Millers now have six children. The other five are all girls. They are Mary Ann, 10; Nancy, 9; Do Do, 7; Judy, 3, and Betty, 2.

Mr. and Mrs. Miller were present at the Army-Notre Dame game and had friends up afterwards. Lieutenant Rex Enright, teammate of Miller at Notre Dame, was among those present.

"We were trailing at half-time by 13 points," he pointed out. "Rock (Knute Rockne) came into the dressing room, looked around and singled out Rex. He referred to him as a Protestant and suggested, in typical Rock dressing room manner, that he do something about things in the second half.

"Well, sir, his speech worked. Rex scored two touchdowns single-handed and we won, 14 to 13," Miller reported.

Dad of Deceased Purple Athlete Predicted Score of Smithie Tilt

By CHARLIE ROBERTS.

There was at least one person in Atlanta who had the Boys' High-Tech High game figured out in advance last week, and he hadn't seen a game in several years.

It happened this way. All the writers and others in the press-box were forecasting the score of the game as is their custom. Bob Chaffin, father of Robert Owen Chaffin, former Boys' High athlete who was killed in a plane accident in the service of his country in Hawaii just about this time last year, was there seeing his first game since his boy left the school three or four years before.

His prediction? 6 to 0 in favor of Boys' High.

How is that for hitting it on the nose? Most of the lads were predicting a high-scoring affair—our prediction was Boys' High 20, Tech High 13—with one forecast as high as 33 to 26.

Despite the fact the bookies were favoring the Smithies at odds of 7 to 5 tnough they would not give any points, not a single one of the press coop predicted a Tech High victory. One tie was forecast and the others named the Purples as the probable winner.

But the real laurels go to Robert Chaffin's dad. He smacked it dead center.

P. S. Last fall some of the Boys' High athletes got together and decided to award a trophy each season to the outstanding Boys' High basketball player of the year. The trophy was named the Robert Owen Chaffin Memorial trophy in honor of the first Boys' High athlete to die in the service of his country. Dan Roberts won it last year.

Alsab Is Victor In Pimlico Run

BALTIMORE, Nov. 18.—(AP)—Mrs. Albert Sabath's Alsab returned to the winner's circle for the first time in nearly a year today when he won the $2,000 discovery purse at Pimlico.

The four-year-old son of Good Goods romped home ahead of six other older horses, covering the mile and one-sixteenth in 1.49 4-5 over a muddy track. He was ridden by George Woolf and at the finish held a three-length margin over G. I. Strother's Abrasion.

Alsab, who is pointing for the $15,000-added Bryan and O'Hara handicap Saturday, was a $6.60 for $2 favorite.

Purple, Smithie 'Bees' To Play Thursday Night

The Boys' High B team and the Tech High B team will clash Thursday night at 7 o'clock at Ponce de Leon park.

The game will be part of a novel double-header, featuring the Commercial-College Park game. The B teams will play their first half and then the Commercial-College Park first half will be played. Following this the B teams will finish their game and then the Typists and Rams will play the final half of their game.

The Tech High B team has won three of four games played. They defeated Marist B, 6-0; North Fulton B, 6-0, and the Bellwood Optimists Boys' Club, 27-6. The G. M. A. B team defeated them, 13-7, in the opening game. Raymond Hall has been the best ground gainer, while Hitchcock is outstanding in the line.

City Cage Loop Launches Play Here Tonight

The strong City Basketball League, composed of three civilian and four service quintets, will launch its season tonight at Sports Arena.

Lieutenant W. A. Rouse's Ordnance Depot cagers and Headquarters Third Corps will clash in the opener at 7:30 p. m. Army Air Base No. 1 and Sergeant Ralph Smith's Lawson General hospital quintet are booked at 8:30 p. m., while Sports Arena, coached by Johnny Moon, tackles Bell Recreational Club in the finale at 9:30 p. m.

The Walco Boys' League swings into action Wednesday night at Fulton High, while the Walco Girls' loop is scheduled to open Thursday night at Sports Arena.

Cook, Smith Show Wares At Grant Field

By F. M. WILLIAMS.

If you are a football fan wondering just what caliber of play would have been offered this year had the Navy not allowed its college trainees to play, the answer will be provided Saturday at Grant Field when Georgia and V. M. I. tangle in an all-civilian contest, starting at 3 o'clock.

It will be the first time this season that Atlantans have had an opportunity to see two clubs with inexperienced men perform in their own backyard.

From a standpoint of action, there'll probably be more than if the boys were veterans of the gridiron. From the viewpoint of an expert, the play will be ragged and maybe disappointing.

The contest will probably look more like the annual Tech-Georgia freshman tilt than a battle between two varsity clubs, since most of the boys on both squads are first-year men. Georgia has two or three boys who rate higher than frosh in the classroom, but the Bulldogs haven't a man with previous gridiron experience.

Georgia has a few boys who'll furnish a thrill here and there. Little Johnny Cook, the Bulldog tailback, is no Frank Sinkwich, of course, but he is a pretty good freshman football player. He ranks second in the nation in total offense and has the best passing record of anyone in the business, even Angelo Bertelli.

Cook's running mate at the other halfback, Rabbit Smith, is, in the opinion of many, Georgia's best player. He is certainly the best defensive man against passes on the club and he is the fastest man on the squad.

Smith, until injured, was running a close race with Steve Van Buren for scoring honors in the S. E. C., and that is unusual since "The Rabbit" plays wingback, seldom handling the ball on running plays, while Van Buren is a tailback and runs most of the time from scrimmage.

Georgia has a pretty good line, from tackle to tackle, but the ends are weak defensively.

Not much is known of V. M. I.'s strength, but on the season's record they rate about even with Georgia.

The Cadets are coached by Pooley Hubert, one of the greatest players ever developed by Wallace Wade at either Alabama or Duke. Hubert was an All-American at 'Bama.

Eaves To Be Ready for V. M. I.

ATHENS, Ga., Nov. 8.—The University of Georgia's colorful red and black clad warriors, holding a light signal drill today, get down to work in earnest Tuesday for the military-minded V. M. I. gridiron squad.

The Bullpups' touchdown twins, Johnny Cook and "Rabbit" Smith, will be in top form for the V. M. I. fray, barring accidents.

Ailing "Beefy" Eaves will be back in the starting lineup to maintain Georgia's high standard of tackle play.

Irish Are Voted Nation's Best

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—(AP)—Notre Dame headed every ballot cast in this week's Associated Press football poll to determine the 10 leading teams in the country—the first time any club ever received unanimous approval.

Lieutenant Commander Edgar E. (Rip) Miller, line coach at the U. S. Naval Academy, but a Notre Dame graduate, told the New York football writers today that the present team representing his alma mater was definitely the best Irish team and "the day it played Navy at Cleveland it could have beaten any other college team ever to take the field."

"I have always ranked the 1930 Notre Dame team as its best, even better than the Four Horsemen of 1924, but now the 1943 outfit must go to the top," Miller concluded.

Coach Frank Leahy had spoken earlier and branded as "desperately unfair" any talk of a national championship or unbeaten season "when these kids soon will be fighting for something more important."

The leading teams, counting 10 points for a first-place vote, nine for second, etc. (First-place votes in parentheses):

TOP TEN.

Notre Dame (91), 910; Purdue, 570; Navy, 518; Michigan, 486; Iowa Preflight, 459; Army, 404; Duke, 308; Northwestern, 285; Southern California, 250; Pennsylvania, 131.

SECOND TEN.

College of Pacific, 113; Washington, 79; Del Monte Preflight, 78; Texas A. & M., 56; March Field, 48; Texas, 34; Tulsa, 31; Dartmouth, 30; Georgia Tech, 23; San Diego, 20.

ALSO RANS.

Great Lakes, 13; Colorado College, 11; Southwestern Louisiana Institute, 10; Arkansas A. & M., 9; Bainbridge (Md.) Naval, 8; Colorado University, 2; Randolph Field, 1.

Sugar Bowl Won't Consider Pro Elevens

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 8.—(AP)—President Joseph B. David, of the New Orleans Mid-winter Sports Association, said today that the association "definitely was not considering professional teams for the Sugar Bowl football game."

"We are 100 per cent collegiate," David told the Monday quarterbacks. He said that it was too early to do any talking about what teams would play in the annual football classic.

HARMON'S PARENTS LOOK OVER TROPHIES—Mr. and Mrs. Louis A. Harmon, whose son, Lieutenant Tom Harmon, has been reported missing after an air forces raid over China, are clinging to the hope he will be found as they look over his trophies and football photo at their home in Ann Arbor, Mich. Harmon, one of Michigan's all-time great backs who was an All-American performer, failed to return from a raid on Kiukiang.

Moore Adds Prokop, Steber to 'All-American'

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 8.—(AP)—Coach Bernie Moore, of Louisiana State, had his regular seat at the Monday Quarterback Club luncheon today and said he was "a bit embarrassed but mighty glad to be back in friendly territory." The Tigers lost to Georgia Tech, 7-42, in Atlanta Saturday.

"This boy Eddie Propok is more than an All-America back," Moore said. "I am going to name him on my All-Allies team."

Moore said that he took a good bit of "friendly ribbing" from Atlanta sports writers last week when he said that he thought the Tigers' Steve Van Buren and Bertelli, of Notre Dame, were the cream of the football crop this season.

"Now I want to add two more boys to my All-America team," Moore said, "Prokop and Steber, a guard, of Georgia Tech."

"Prokop undoubtedly hasn't read the clippings on the boys he plays against," Moore added. "The only way to stop him is to throw a lot of shoulder in his middlings—tagging doesn't count with him."

Moore said that Georgia Tech was "entirely too good for us," but predicted that Tulane would give Coach Bill Alexander's boys a tough game at New Orleans Saturday.

Coach Claude "Little Monk" Simons, of Tulane, said he expected his Greenies to be in good condition for Georgia Tech. "Tech is better than we are in 11 positions, but we are definitely going to 'entertain' them Saturday."

Horace Renegar, public relations representative at Tulane, said that the Tulane-Georgia Tech game would be broadcast to service men overseas.

The quarterbacks stood in silent memory of Claude "Big Monk" Simons, Tulane coach and athletic administrator, who died Friday after many years of service at Tulane.

STEEPLECHASE.

BALTIMORE, Nov. 8.—(AP)—Miss Ella Widener's Iron Shot, the longest shot in a field of six ju[mpers], won the 23d running o[f the] $7,500-added Manly steeplechase handicap before a crowd of [approx]imately 9,000 persons at Pimlico today. M. A. Cushman's Rouge Dragon, making a bid for jumping honors of the year, was favored at the mutuels by the crowd, but finished a bad last.

Harmon's Plane Reportedly Was Shot Down

HEADQUARTERS OF THE U. S. 14TH AIRFORCE IN CHINA, Nov. 3.—(Delayed)—Lieutenant Tommy Harmon was listed as missing in action today, an official account saying the All-American football player's P-38 Lightning was shot down October 30 in a sky battle over Kiukiang, Yangtze river port southeast of Hankow.

The flight of Lightnings in which the former Michigan star was flying was attacked by 10 to 15 Zeros when the Americans divebombed shipping and docks at the port. Two of the Lightnings were seen to crash in flames and two others failed to return.

Harmon, who trekked his way to safety last April after he had bailed out of a bomber over a South American jungle, was to have received a promotion to first lieutenant on the day after he was shot down.

Jackets Drill Only Lightly

Tech came out of Saturday's 42-to-7 victory over LSU in good condition, with only "Buster" Beall, a sturdy guard, suffering an injury. Beall had to leave the game in the third quarter with a bad leg. He has been hurt most of this season and it may be that he won't get into the Tulane tilt.

On the other hand, the Jackets are counting on having Walter Kilzer, right end, back for this game. Kilzer was hurt in the Navy game and has not played since.

Coach Alex plans scrimmages for Tuesday and Wednesday of this week.

Tulane, like Tech, is bolstered by a host of Navy trainees and the game should be one of the best of the year. If the Jackets can win it, it will virtually cinch the Southeastern Conference championship for them this season.

Red Treadway, Sloan Drafted By Jersey City

DURHAM, N. C., Nov. 8.—(AP)—The class AA baseball draft opened at minor league headquarters here today.

Rochester, International league, drafted Pitcher Glenn Gardner from Nashville, Southern Association. Gardner last season won 16 and lost nine.

Louisville drafted Infielder Nick Polly, who batted .304 for Birmingham in the Southern Association.

Toronto, in the International league, drafted Pitcher-Outfielder Alex Mustaikis from Elmira, Eastern league. Mustaikis won 20, lost 12 and batted .358.

Toronto also got the contracts of Infielder Tony Castano from Richmond in the Piedmont league, and Pitcher Ralph Williams from Portsmouth, another Piedmont entry. Castano batted .333; Williams won 18 and lost 12.

Jersey City, International league, got Outfielder Bruce Sloan, who batted .365, from Little Rock in the Southern; Outfielder Leon Treadway, who batted .310 for Atlanta in the Southern, and Outfielder Cleston Ray, who hit .269, from Richmond.

Irish Rated 1st, Jackets 15th By Williamson

By PAUL WILLIAMSON.

Yes, we heard it. San Diego Navy 10, Southern California 7; Texas Tech 40, T. C. U. 20; Jacksonville Air 20, Miami of Florida 0; Case 19, Baldwin-Wallace 0, and a few others.

Upsetting, you say? Perhaps. For the first one, please note that the Williamson System has been alone in rating Washington for several weeks as the No. 1 team of the far west—and San Diego Navy wasn't rated so very far below Southern Cal before the game.

The others can mostly be checked up to the shifting of players under Navy orders—for example, Texas Christian was riddled of players last week.

The Williamson System's figures, just the same, so far say indubitably that the 1943 football season will go down as one of the most consistent of all time. It's not wacky at all. Certainly not against the cold figures. Sentiment is something else.

Notre Dame 26, Army 0. "How you gonna keep 'em down on the farm." The Williamson System keeps the Fightin' Irish in No. 1 position this week with a rating of 99.8.

Navy, for coming back over Penn 24 to 7; Duke, for running up the biggest score of the year in major competition, over North Carolina State, 75 to 0; Michigan, for safely stopping Indiana, 23 to 6; idle Washington; Southwestern of Louisiana, for being tied, 20 to 20, by Arkansas A. & M. in the rain; Arkansas A. & M.; Purdue, for snatching a 14-to-7 victory over Minnesota out of the fire in the last 40 seconds; Northwestern, for rolling over hapless Wisconsin, 42 to 0, and Army.

In spite of 11 upsets over the week, the System was 86.2 per cent correct. That brings the season's record to 613 scores reported, 74 upsets, 10 upsetting ties—over 87 per cent correct on a win-lose-or-tie basis.

The SPORTLIGHT By Grantland Rice

THE STRUGGLE OF THE BOWLS

The Bowl situation is in something of a haze or a daze. We have received a number of communications from Bowl centers, asking advice as to the teams that might be used. This is quite an order. Southern California seems to be well set in regard to the Rose Bowl, with Washington or College of the Pacific as probable or possible invaders.

But what about the Sugar Bowl at New Orleans, the Cotton Bowl at Dallas or the Orange Bowl at Miami?

For example, the Cotton Bowl has Texas and Texas A. and M. as the two home defenders.

But where is there an opponent they can pick?

There is Tulsa, with one of the best teams available, but Tulsa is somewhat close to Texas territory.

The Other Bowls

What about the Sugar Bowl, where they have some 72,000 palpitating spectators waiting for the annual New Year's party?

The New Orleans choice could be L. S. U., Tulane or Southwestern Institute.

These are all good teams.

But what about the opposition? What team can be drawn in that will give the game some semblance of intersectional competition?

This is not as simple as it used to be. There are few teams from the north or east who have any interest in bowl games.

And there is also the matter of travel and the distance a team has to travel.

But no one can say they will be able to meet any bowl invitation.

The best teams from the southeastern sector include Duke, North Carolina and Georgia Tech.

It is possible that one of these teams might be available. But what opponent can they get from some outlying precinct, to give the game an intersectional flavor?

It is the intersectional angle that has the bowl promoters a trifle dizzy.

Another Side

The odds are that each bowl will have a first-class engagement.

It always happens that way. But no one is sure yet that some strong team today won't be riddled in the next month through Navy or Marine withdrawals.

They have been picking off the best in the last ten days and the chances are that many, many more will be called into war service before we start celebrating another New Year's eve.

It is all quite complicated but the odds are there will be the same number of good bowl games, which, of course should be played for the National War Fund.

This is no time for any commercial bowl enterprise. This is a point that should be completely understood in advance.

Team Clinches Grid Tilt, Sees Finish From Stands

HAINES CITY, Fla., Nov. 8.—(AP)—The Haines City Hornets met the Auburndale football team here and the Hornet regulars played for the first 10 minutes, piling up a lead.

Then the first team took their showers and went up into the stands to cheer on the second and third stringers.

Purples Vote To Engage in Blue-Gray Tilt

By The Associated Press.

Principal H. O. Smith of Boys' High school said Monday members of the school's championship football team had voted to accept an invitation to meet Meridian High school, of Mississippi, in a wartime Blue-Gray football game at Montgomery, Ala., Christmas Day.

Smith said approval of the Atlanta Board of Education was necessary before formal acceptance could be made, but added he foresaw no obstacle to an affirmative vote.

Sponsors of the annual Blue-Gray game—previously a match between All-Star college players from north and south—extended the invitation after Boys' High defeated previously unbeaten Tech High, of Atlanta, 6-0, in a game which apparently clinched the Georgia class—a grid championship for Boys' High.

Meridian High school previously had acepted a similar invitation. The two teams met once before in 1941 at Meridian, tying 13-13 on a very muddy field.

Columbus High school and Boys' High each are undefeated in the Georgia Interscholastic Athletic Association, but Columbus has not scheduled the requisite five games needed to qualify as a championship contender. Columbus lost one nonleague encounter early this season to Baylor school of Chattanooga.

Steuber Leads; Van Buren 2d In Point Race

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—(AP)—Bob Steuber, of little Depauw College at Greencastle, Ind., took a firmer grip on first place in the nation's high scoring football competition last week by scoring 29 points against Fort Knox.

Steuber's spree of four touchdowns and five conversions booted his season total to 129 points, 31 more than the 98 compiled by Steve Van Buren, of Louisiana State.

The 98 points scored by Purdue's Tony Butkovich before he was transferred away from the undefeated United Boilermakers kept him in third place, 20 points ahead of Elroy Hirsch, of Michigan. Howie Blose, of Cornell, jumped into fifth place with 60 points by getting two touchdowns against Penn State.

Mother Given Son's Awards

The wife of a former Atlantan and the mother of a Georgian have been presented decorations for their husband and son, respectively, who are war prisoners in Germany.

At Greensboro, N. C., Mrs. Edward Griffin, wife of Lieutenant Edward Griffin, who lived in Atlanta until four years ago, was presented the Distinguished Flying Cross and the Air Medal.

At Commerce, Ga., Mrs. Lulu Chandler received the Air Medal and three Oak Leaf clusters for her son, Lieutenant U. M. Chandler, aerial gunner.

The Air Medal and two of the clusters were presented by Lieutenant Colonel Francis D. Shoemaker, commanding officer of the Atlanta Army Air Base, "for exceptionally meritorious achievement while participating in 15 separate bombing combat missions over enemy occupied Europe. The third cluster was for destroying an enemy plane on a bombardment mission."

Lieutenant Griffin, bombardier on a Flying Fortress, "The Blonde Bomber," won the medal and the cross during 380 operational hours. His mother, Mrs. E. R. Griffin Sr., of Reynolds drive, Atlanta, was present at Greensboro.

Atlanta Named By Methodists

By DR. THOMAS M. ELLIOTT.

Bishop Arthur J. Moore, bishop in charge of the Atlanta area of the Methodist church, has been informed that the 1944 session of the jurisdictional conference of the Southeastern Jurisdiction will be held here in Atlanta, beginning June 22.

The committee appointed to select a place of meeting for the jurisdictional body met at Asheville, and received invitations from several cities in addition to the one extended by Atlanta Methodism and several other groups in the city.

The Southeastern Jurisdiction embraces all territory east of the Mississippi river south of Washington. In addition to the 600 accredited delegates to the conference, there will be in attendance several hundred visitors, it was stated. All Methodist bishops residing in the jurisdiction will be present.

During the 10-day conference, which meets quadrennially following the session of the general conference, special study will be given plans for promoting Methodist work in the southeastern section of the United States. A special committee on policy and program is to meet here in Atlanta for two days, November 31 and December 1, to arrange a schedule of suggestions for the coming conference.

One function of the jurisdictional conference is election of bishops. Another matter now being urged and that will come before the conference is the establishing of a branch of the Methodist Publishing House in Atlanta.

One of our lads failed to get credit for six Jap Zeros he destroyed on the ground. It isn't sporting.

That's a lot of malarkey. He destroyed Jap planes, didn't he? If you have to catch them in the air that would be like building traps just to catch wolves by the tails.

If one of our boys sinks a Togo carrier I would give him credit for the boat and for every plane on it. Say a hundred.

And if he bombed a hangar I would chalk up every plane burned on the ground. Say two hundred.

And if he washed out a plane factory I would give him credit for every plane that factory would build in the next 10 years. Say, about fifty thousand.

Powerful Searchlight Aiding British Fighters

LONDON, Nov. 8.—(AP)—Some British night fighters have been equipped with powerful searchlights as an aid to hunting down and destroying German air raiders, the latest of which to be thrown against Britain is the Messerschmitt-410, similar to the RAF's famous Mosquitos.

The news of this innovation was disclosed in connection with the granting of an honorary commission as air commodore to Group Captain W. Helmore, a member of parliament and now with the ministry of aircraft production.

TWENTY years of experience and success has endowed The Thomas' with unmatchable "extra skill" in the field of hair treatment. It's this "extra skill" that distinguishes the genuine expert from the mediocre workman in any field of endeavor.

If your scalp is covered with itchy dandruff scales and your hair is dull and lusterless—consult a Thomas expert today. See for yourself how The Thomas' "extra skill" can help you solve such hair problems—quickly, accurately, and inexpensively. You'll readily understand why a quarter-million other persons have turned their hair problems over to Thomas—and why The Thomas' are recognized as the world's leading hair experts. No charge is made for private consultation and advice. Come in today.

Dead--

But Not Forgotten!

BUY AN EXTRA BOND on Armistice Day

Show that you're behind our fighting troops 100%! Buy an extra bond on Armistice Day . . . help to bring the next Armistice closer! The boys want to know you're with them in this battle, and this is the one sure way you can demonstrate your sincerity. Do your part towards making the bond sales soar! Don't forget the boys who are not forgetting you.

On November 10, 1918

November 10, 1943, brings no end to the battles raging on the many fronts. Cannons and rifles go on about their deadly business, bringing screaming sudden death to thousands . . . bringing pain and writhing anguish to countless others. The lads who lie dead in the mud have found peace 'midst "war's rattles" . . . but who among them would not exchange that peace for a chance to fight again . . . and for the chance to return home after the war? "War loves to seek its victims in the young," who relinquish so much of life . . . unlived!

They went into the battle gladly, buying our freedom with their blood, so let's give more gladly, give more freely . . . and bring those who are left home sooner! Are not the things asked of us small in comparison to the price our men are paying for Victory . . . and all that it brings? We think of them fighting, but do we know as they do, that "fighting" is "killing and being killed"? Let's really put our shoulders to the War-Wheel! Let's work harder, buy more bonds . . . and co-operate in any and every way to bring the war to a more imminent end!

Buy Bonds
and more Bonds
